Ed Baker of San Diego, president of the Aztec Brewing company, was in Santa Ana Wednesday conferring with the local distributor, Carl Edgar. They made a trip to Riverside to look after interests in that city.

S. A. Hurd, 52, welder of route 3, Santa Ana, was jailed on drunk driving charges yesterday by deputy sheriffs, who arrested him near Huntington Beach.

Wentner here on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Manuel Rivas, 38, Santa Paula, and Henry Canales, 22, Los Angeles, were jailed last night by sheriff's officers.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barker left today for a leisurely trip to Gridley, Calif. They will stop at Alhambra this evening, and resume the journey tomorrow morning, going as far as Fresno to stay with relatives. A brief stop at Sacramento, then to Marysville and into Yuba City and Gridley. The Barkers for a number of years were Sacramento Valley residents.

Tomorrow at the W. R. Gordon Buick Agency, 221 East Fifth street, 1939 models will be on display. The pre-view took place about ten days ago in Los Angeles when 1100 dealers and salesmen attended the showing. The cars this year are noted for their increased visibility, gear control, and luxurious appointments. To be appreciated they must be in offered for public inspection, according to Mr. Gordon, who invites the public to the showing.

Former residents of Illinois will picnic Oct. 15 in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles.

J. Gregory Conway of Long Beach will give his first lecture demonstration on flower arrangements Monday evening at 7:30 in the Willard auditorium, under auspices of the evening high school.

Not Guilty Plea In Morals Case

David W. Mann, PWA laborer, today pleaded not guilty to a morals charge involving another man, and will have a jury trial Oct. 17 in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court.

Mann entered the not guilty plea before Superior Judge James L. Allen. The offense with which he is charged, a felony, is alleged to have occurred Sept. 2.

Japanese Claim Railroad Key to Hankow Taken from Chinese

4-MONTH DRIVE OF 200 MILES IS COMPLETED

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Japanese forces reached a railway route to the military heart of China today and reported a series of gains at far-distant points of the sprawling Chinese battleground.

Chinese admitted that Japanese cavalrymen had fought their way to the Peiping-Hankow railway that leads to the nation's military capital, Hankow, culminating a 200-mile, cross-country detour drive that started four months ago.

Japanese advancing up the Yangtze river occupied Kichun, 80 miles downstream from Hankow, and, far to the north, four Japanese columns were converging on the mountain stronghold of the eighth army, elusive regions of Chu Teh, Chinese Red Napoleon.

The main Japanese cross-country force, Chinese said, still was a considerable distance from the railway. The cavalry detachment was admitted to have raided Luliang, 92 miles north of Hankow and Japanese asserted the railway had been severed.

The invaders reached Luliang after weeks of heavy fighting westward through Anhwei and Honan provinces. For the past 14 days the opposing armies at times had struggled knee deep in mud during almost continuous rains.

Japanese were forced to start the cross-country drive against the vital railway line when Yellow river floods the first week in June halted the invaders' thrust against Chengchow, railway junction point 300 miles north of Hankow.

Then they had been within sight of Chengchow, goal of spring fighting in a campaign to open a railway route to Hankow from Peiping, captured in the first month of the warfare which started July 7, 1937.

The cross-country column started from Hsuei, in central Anhwei province, and the Yangtze river column, after capture July 26 of of Kichun, 145 miles downstream from Hankow, began a difficult drive up the hill-lined valley.

From their newly-won position at Kichun, Japanese faced great obstacles in the Yangtze campaign. Chinese have established strong defense positions in the hills and are prepared to make the invaders pay a heavy price if they are determined to reach Hankow by the river route.

BUREAU HITS SINGLE TAX AND BOND ACT

The Orange County Farm bureau was 21 years old yesterday. Celebrating the event quietly, directors met for their monthly meeting and adopted recommendations on propositions to appear on the November ballot.

Proposals receiving the endorsement of the farm bureau include Proposition No. 1, entitled "labor." The directors opposed the so-called single tax, the Garrison bond act and the $30-Every-Thursdays pension measure, among others.

Opposition to the single tax was based upon the expectation that such a tax would ruin California farmers, and the farm bureau expects to carry on an active campaign against the measure.

Besides making recommendations on the fall ballot, directors set up marketing committee to be composed of representatives from each commodity group in the county. This marketing committee is a part of a state-wide group within the farm bureau which will study fruit and vegetable marketing.

Directors announced the Foothill Farm Center as the winner of the award given annually to the farm center holding the best meeting during the year.

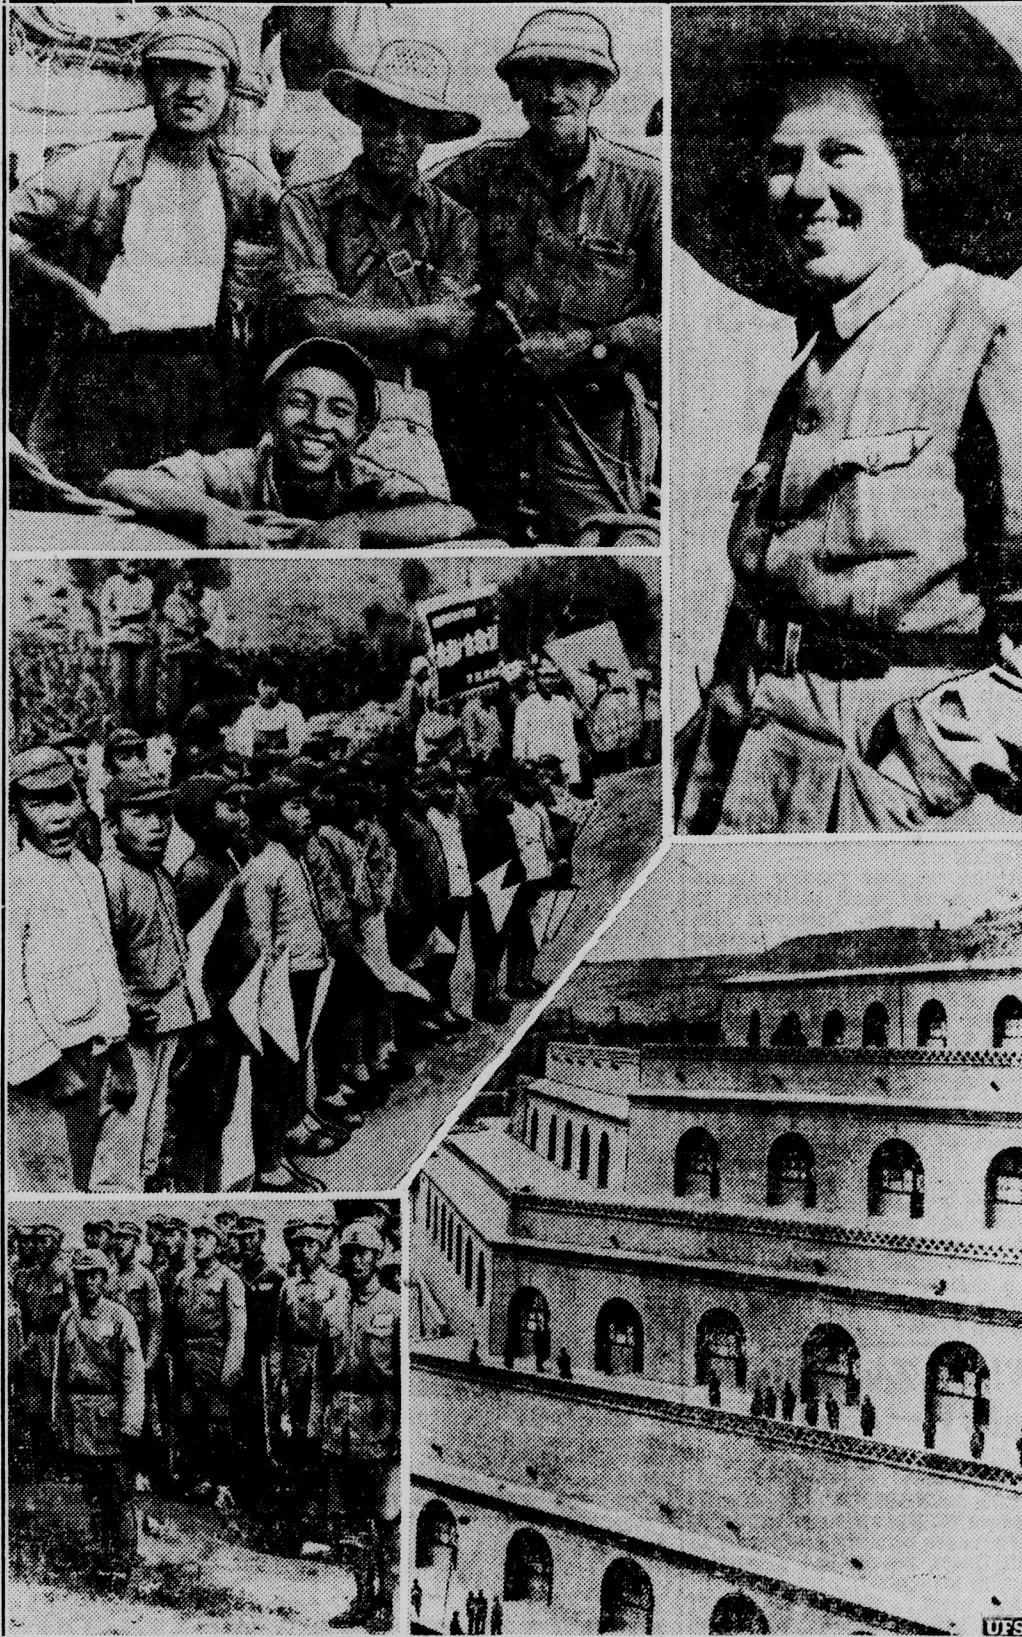

W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, reviewed 11 years of work in fire prevention in the forests and rural sections of Orange county.

Chairman L. P. Halderman appointed Dian Dardner, V. C. Heil, and G. C. Darnall as a nominating committee to report at the November meeting, when officers for

PLAGUING THE ENEMY—Captain Evans Carlson, United States Marines intelligence officer, recently took a three-months trip through six provinces of North China and found that although the areas were surrounded by Japanese forces, emergency Chinese administrations functioned with enthusiasm. HOLLAND CASE SET NOV. 29

Sidney DeForest Holland, 40-year-old Santa Ana mechanic, will face a superior court jury Nov. 29 on charges he flew an airplane while he was intoxicated.

Holland pleaded not guilty today before Superior Judge James L. Allen and will be tried by a jury in Judge G. K. Scovel's court. He was arrested July 3 by Santa Ana police as he stepped from an airplane which assertedly had been stunting low over the city.

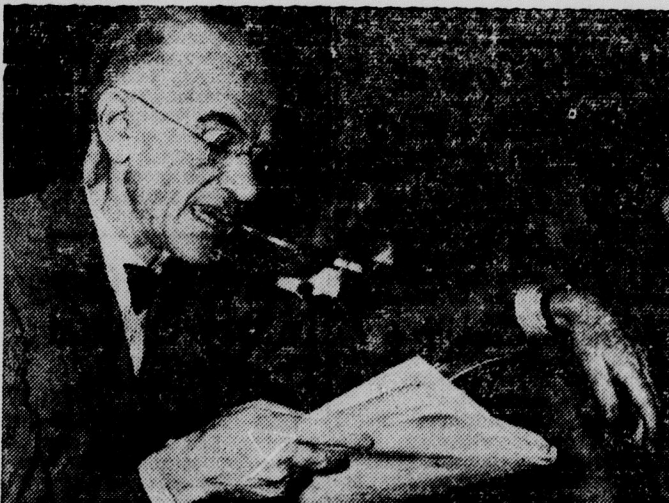

If convicted—this case is the first such charge in the county's history—Holland faces a penitentiary term.

Five years ago—New York Giants defeated Washington Senators, 4-3, on Mel Ott's tenth-inning homer and captured World Series, four games to one.

1939 will be elected. After a luncheon, J. A. Smiley of Orange, and H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, recalled events leading up to the formation of the farm bureau in 1917.

Skinny Skribbles

That's what "Stormy" Gordon has got to explain to my satisfaction.

Eddie King tells me he has some land in the Wasco section and one of the major oil companies has moved a derrick so close to one corner of his property he's in a jitter. There is a great development in that part of the state, and if there is a "hang-over" on Eddie's land his friends will rejoice with him in a good fortune. I am not resisting any oil encroachments on some land I own. Fact is, I'm flirting with 'em.

There is an observation by the Old Philosopher that the less we know the happier we are. That if we go too far beyond intellectual attainments the future is the lone-some road of self-companionship. Gee, there isn't any danger of my isolation.

Dr. Palmer Reynolds inquires as to the inclined head and when I try to convince him it was meditation he says, "Oh, yes?" like you would probably do. Inflective like, which leaves a suspicion. However, having assimilated with "Doc" in the affluent days of the Sunset club, I knew he was charitable, so the interview wasn't so bad for either of us. So neither of us rocked the boat, and thus far the sailing is smooth.

An orange grower tells me he has heard enough of the Czechs, over there, and would like to see some over here. I think he's got something there.

The World series seems to have interfered with service club attendance, pool games, and I have encountered a few golfers who declare their skill hasn't been so good since Dizzy Dean began pitching.

The Community Chest campaign has been officially launched. It won't get far unless somebody rows the boat. That somebody is you and you. Oh, yep, I'll help some.

And then there is the fellow who wonders if business organizations ever change their mailing lists. He is being addressed at a location which went out of business so long ago he almost forgot they owed him. Another who received mail at four different places decided he might as well yield his lock box to some one whose identity in the community had become more definitely fixed. Still, it's nice to get mail, if it isn't around the first of the month.

AUTO MAKERS DEMAND WEEK OF 32 HOURS

DETROIT. (P)—A United Automobile Workers' demonstration for a 32-hour week closed two large factories here today and left approximately 12,000 men idle.

The main plant of the Plymouth Motor Corp. remained closed this morning when approximately 3,000 employees stood outside the gates and refused to enter, declaring they would not work more than 32 hours weekly.

A short time later the Mack avenue plant of the Briggs Manufacturing Co., which employs 9,000 men making bodies for the Plymouth plant, also closed, awaiting resumption of Plymouth operations.

C. G. Edelen, chief steward of the UAW Plymouth local, said the demonstration was not a strike and that the men would return to work Monday morning at the regular hour. He said they did not intend to work more than 32 hours a week, however. The men have been working 40 hours.

4 Motorists Fined $24 in City Court

Four motorists were fined a total of $24 for traffic offenses by City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday, three pleading guilty to speeding and the fourth to failure to make a boulevard stop.

Fined for speeding were Henry Etterly, route 4, box 262, $5; Ralph L. Barnes, Costa Mesa, $8; Violet M. Watson, Buena Park, $6. Owen C. Johnson, Lemon Grove, was fined $5 for failure to make a boulevard stop.

L. A. Flood Control Plans Discussed
LOS ANGELES. (P)—Flood control plans for Los Angeles county were before public officials and civic leaders today for discussion by Maj. Theodore Wyman, jr., district army engineers, and other authorities.

At a meeting called by W. S. Rosecrans, president of the chamber of commerce, Wyman was the major speaker on long range projects designed to prevent repetition of last March's severe flood losses.

'Bomb' Explodes in Auto at Judge's Home

gate, and then called for us.
"We opened the car door and saw smoke pouring out; and we got the hose and extinguished the fire."
Police expressed the opinion that the "bomb" "wasn't intended to hurt anybody." Police Chief Floyd Howard and District Attorney's Investigator R. H. Sandon concurred in this belief as they surveyed the car this morning.

IN CARDBOARD
The "bomb" was made from a cardboard container, such as is used for sale of bicarbonate of soda or other powdered chemicals. It was filled with black powder and birdshot, evidently taken from a number of shotgun shells, and contained three slugs resembling .45-caliber pistol bullets.

It had been ignited by a piece of string, and the flash which followed the explosion merely singed the outside of the container and set fire to a newspaper lying behind the "bomb" on the floor of the car.

The burning newspaper did the most damage scorching the upholstery on the left-hand door. The shot was not at all scattered and the lid was blown only about four inches off the can.

Neighbors said they heard no explosion.
Footprints discovered by Police Capt. R. S. Elliott and Sgt. J. F. McWilliams in the orchard next door were inspected and plaster casts taken for possible identification. No fingerprints were discovered on the car or the "bomb."

HOME GUARDED
Inquiry into the "bombing" was continued today by Police Chief Howard. Judge Allen revealed there had been a police guard at his home, at his request, for some time—but that he had believed the danger was over several days ago.

The grand jury, which went into session again this morning, did not immediately begin considering the events of last night.

L. A. WOMAN QUIZZED
Mrs. Gertrude Simcoe, secretary to a Los Angeles police captain, testified before the grand jury for half an hour today, being questioned about activities of G. F. McKelvey, suspended deputy sheriff, who assertedly left with Mrs. Simcoe overnight a Los Angeles grand jury transcript used in preparation of a second pamphlet which was printed but not distributed.

She has corroborated McKelvey's story that he left the transcript with her to be returned to Dist. Atty. Buron Fitts' office the next day. McKelvey has denied having a photostatic copy made of the transcript, which contained testimony involving Edgar B. Hervey, San Diego attorney who is pressing the county supervisors' "fee suit" against Sheriff Logan Jackson.

Only other witness this morning was Robert Elliott, partner in the Los Angeles print shop where "Fools Rush In" and the second pamphlet were printed.

Generally believed to be almost the only man who could solve the case—if he were able to identify the mysterious "J. M. Paulsen" who is supposed to have arranged for printing of the pamphlet—Elliott was closeted with the grand jury and Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton for more than an hour.

EMPLOYE WAITS
Waiting outside, also called as a witness, was Frank Emery, employee of Elliott's, who saw "Paulsen" on one occasion.
Yet to be summoned before the jury were employees of the Atlas Distributing agency, which distributed the pamphlets in Fullerton and La Habra, some of whom had seen "Paulsen" or someone else who arranged for publication of the booklet.

CHECK PASSER SENTENCED

One man was sentenced to San Quentin today for passing a bad check, and another pleaded guilty to a similar charge and asked probation.

Leslie Hudson, 25-year-old Los Angeles man, was denied probation by Superior Judge James L. Allen and will serve one to 14 years in San Quentin prison. He pleaded guilty to one count of passing a $16 bad check on A. F. Brody of Huntington Beach, and also admitted passing 18 other checks on Southern California markets to the extent of $372.78.

William H. Powell, accused of passing a $7.50 bad check on Jack McCoe, June 18, will have probation hearing Oct. 14. He pleaded guilty today.

There are 18 species of elm tree.

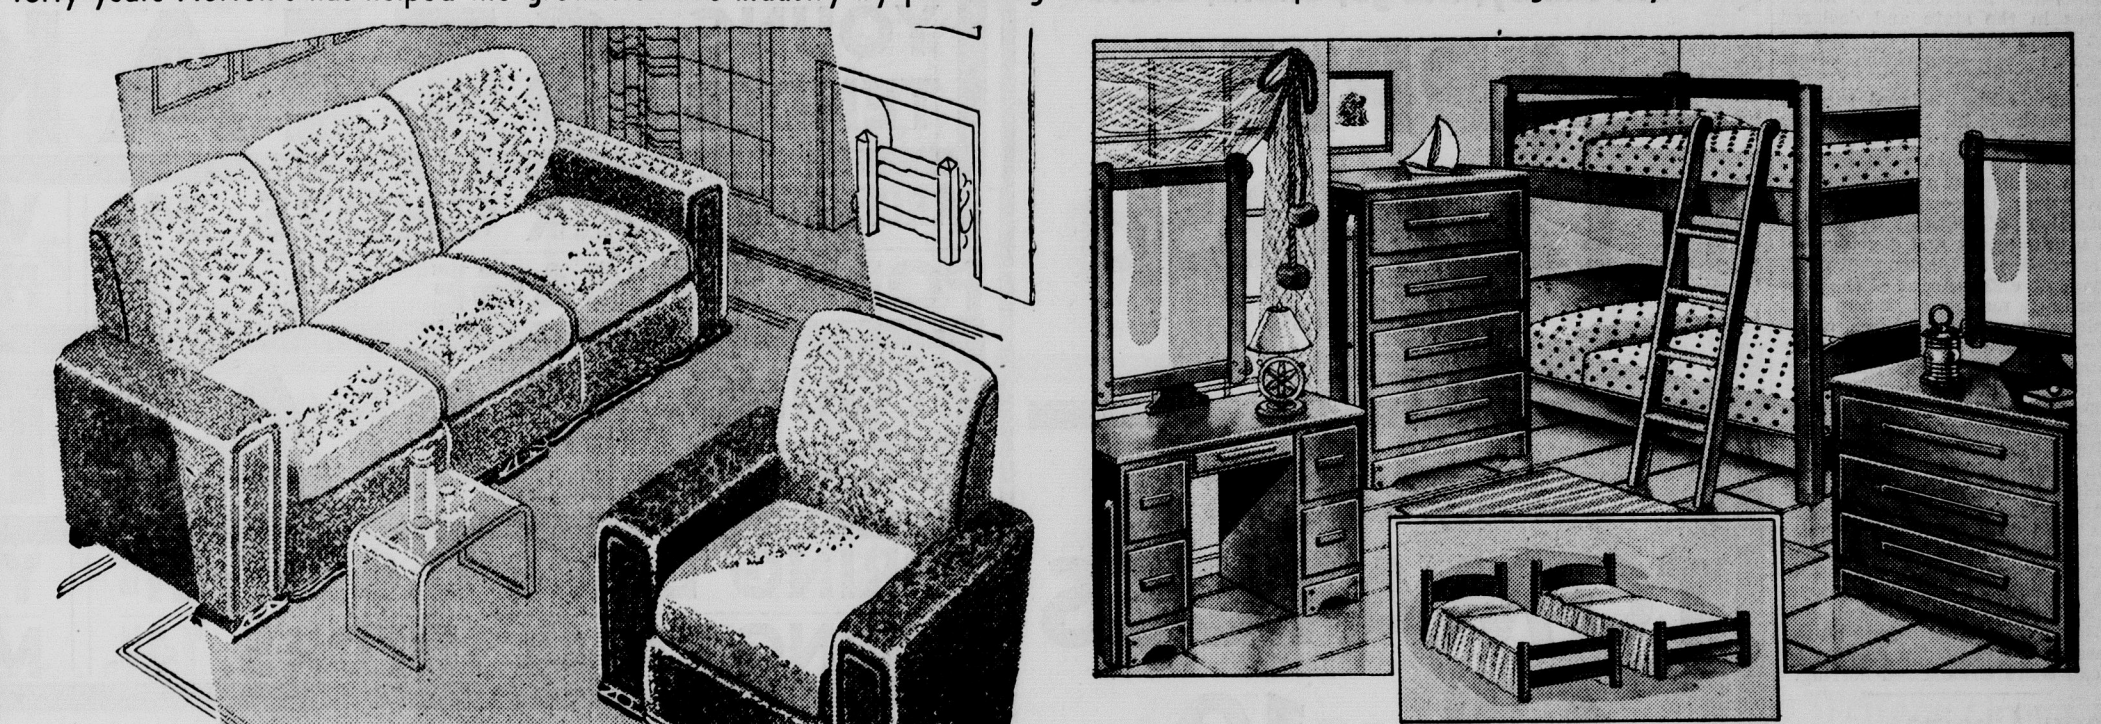

30 CHINESE AMBUSHED

OLSON TALKS HERE, PLEDGES PLATFORM AID

Senator Culbert L. Olson made his first address since the primary election to a meeting sponsored by the Young Democrats in Santa Ana last night.

"I want you to feel that I am speaking not only to you, the Democrats of Orange county, but through you to all the Democrats in all of the 58 counties in this great state," Olson said.

In a speech that was sent to all Democratic headquarters throughout the state, the Democratic standard bearer went on to pledge himself to whole hearted support of the platform adopted at the recent party convention.

He offered the hand of welcome to Republicans who, while they might still be registered in that party, shared with Democrats a critical attitude toward the incumbent administration in Sacramento.

Senator Olson declared that the Democratic party was united in California as never before and cited the warm reception accorded to him, Sheridan Downey and Ellis E. Patterson, Democratic nominees for senator and lieutenant governor, respectively, on their recent visit to Washington, as evidence that the spirit of party solidarity begins at the top.

He promised to support all the Democratic nominees for minor offices in the state and declared that he, in his turn, had received promises of cooperation from them.

Senator Olson declared that he would make it his business to see that the wishes of the party were carried out on such vital matters as the calling of a constitutional convention; the conservation and protection of natural resources; the improvement and development of recreation facilities; youth employment; enforcement of the laws regarding maximum hours and minimum wages for women, and a wide variety of other progressive measures advocated at the recent Democratic convention.

Speaking on behalf of Sheridan Downey, Democratic candidate for United States senator, Peirson Hall, branded Philip Bancroft, Republican candidate, as "Herbert Hoover's Charley McCarthy candidate" and declared that his choice of the "$30 Every Thursday pension plan" as subject for debate was "merely the old trick of waving a red herring."

"Bancroft will not debate on the issues of the campaign as long as he can wave the old red herring," Olson said.

Beds, Chairs Banned at Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK (AP)—The long lines of fans waiting for hours with improvised beds and chairs will be missing at the Yankee stadium where the New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs resume their World Series battle tomorrow.

A line of standees will be permitted after midnight tonight but they must stand, says a police decree. Nobody will be permitted to bring chairs, boxes, cots, blankets or roll themselves in newspapers for an all-night vigil in order to be among the first to purchase bleacher tickets.

Lathrop Teacher Magazine Writer

Occupying a prominent place in the October issue of the Sierra Educational News, organ of the California Teachers' association with a circulation of 60,000, is an article on "American Language" written by Mrs. Gladys Schulhof, literature teacher in Julia Lathrop Junior High school of Santa Ana.

The article, a careful analysis of speech habits and dialects in usage throughout the United States, was submitted as a paper at a local teachers' meeting last spring, and won such applause that Principal H. G. Nelson arranged its submission to the magazine, which instantly accepted it.

10 Tons of Blarney Stone Shipped to L. A. As Result Of Exchange of 'Gag' Wires

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—"Buy me the Blarney stone," Manfred Meyer, visiting in Ireland, when he heard of Douglas Corrigan's "wrong way" hop.

Back came a reply from Meyer: "I've bought the whole quarry."

"Ha, ha," chuckled Meyer, to himself, "Some joke." So he cabled Bodger again:

"Ship me ten tons of it."

Today, ten tons of blarney stone—the real thing, from the quarry where in 1446 they broke off the chunks that went into Blarney castle—rocked in the hold of a ship at Los Angeles harbor.

"I'll be doggoned," was all Meyer could say when he heard the stone really was on the way. But himself, "Some joke." So he since then, orders from jewelry

Cotton Pickers' Strike Continues

BAKERSFIELD. (AP)—Kern county's cotton pickers' strike continued today, with growers still adamant in their refusal to increase wages from 75 cents to $1 per hundred pounds.

Very little cotton is being moved to gins. Strikers' leaders say 2000 men are on strike.

firms have been coming in and San Franciscans even want to build a Blarney castle on Treasure Island. So now he thinks:

"Maybe this won't be such a lot of blarney, after all."

Woman Kept From Stork Derby Held After Four Fires

TORONTO. (Canadian Press)—Mrs. Matthew Kenny, who was declared ineligible to share in the $500,000 Toronto stork derby but collected a $12,500 "consolation" award from the winners, was remanded today to the psychiatric hospital.

Mrs. Kenny had spent the night in jail, held in $3000 bail on a charge of arson after the fourth fire in four months in homes occupied by the large Kenny family.

Bancroft Received Thanks of Green

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Philip Bancroft for Senator headquarters here announced today the following telegram had been received from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor:

"Many thanks for your message. Pleased to learn you are in accord with address I delivered at opening of our convention. Your suggestions are accepted with many thanks."

Little Extra Rest Costs This S. A. Man $100 in Cash

A little extra rest cost Don Cave of Santa Ana $100 last night.

Cave, who is an usher at Walker's theater, went home earlier than usual last night and went to bed to catch up on his sleep.

And while he dreamed, his name was drawn in the Fortune Wheel event at the Broadway theater. If he'd dropped over to the Broadway before he went home, he would have been $100 richer today.

Stock Exchange Seat Value Is Up

NEW YORK. (AP)—Arrangements were made today for sale of a New York Stock exchange membership at $70,000, or within $6000 of the highest price paid for a membership this year.

The $79,000 represented a rise of $9000 over the $70,000 paid for a membership yesterday, and an increase of $11,000 over a transfer Monday of this week at $68,000.

The common theatrical to "encore," is French for "again."

JAMES RAITT, FORMER S. A. MAN, IS DEAD

Students do appreciate services rendered pleasantly.

This was indicated today with news that students at Santa Ana Junior college had presented $50 to Mrs. Violet Bartholomew, college secretary, to help defray expenses during her convalescence from an appendectomy.

The action is unprecedented in the jaysce, and Associated Student President Bill Twist indicated that the gesture was for the "high esteem in which the students hold Mrs. Bartholomew."

The Associated Student executive board passed on the proposition and allocated the fund at a recent meeting. Members of the college faculty contributed a like sum to augment the $50 donated by the students.

James T. Raitt, well known former resident of Santa Ana for many years and prominent business man, died yesterday at his home in Anaheim.

Founder of the Raitt Dairy company in 1886, Mr. Raitt was active in business until two years ago when he retired because of ill health. Until last year when the Raitts moved to a ranch home near Anaheim, they resided at 1616 North Baker street.

He was born in New York in 1861 and moved to Santa Ana 52 years ago, coming in Santa Ana in 1886. He was a member of the Kiwanis club, the Merchants and Manufacturers association, and active in the United Presbyterian church. Always interested in civic growth of the city, Mr. Raitt was affiliated with the chamber of commerce directors for years.

Mr. Raitt, who was 70 at the time of his death, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eva B. Raitt. He leaves three sons, Dr. G. Emmett Raitt, who he has in Santa Ana, a physician, Arch J. Raitt of Fullerton, and Ralph J. Raitt of Placentia, and a daughter, Mrs. Elsie Woodward of Anaheim. Miss Effie J. Raitt and Miss Elsie M. Raitt of Seattle, Wash., are sisters, and there are nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Albert E. Kelly of the United Presbyterian church at Smith and Tuthill chapel Saturday at 2 p. m. Interment will follow in Fairhaven cemetery.

Newark Leads 3-2 In 'Little World Series' Baseball

KANSAS CITY. (AP)—The man who put the Kansas City Blues in the Little World Series tonight faces the job of keeping them there. He is Marvin Breuer, righthanded hurler who won three games from St. Paul in the American association playoff finals. Tonight he takes the mound against the Newark Bears in the sixth game of the Little World Series. If he wins, the series will be tied up at three all. If he loses. It's all over.

Opposing Breuer will be Jack Haley, victor over the Blues in the third game of the series at Newark, 7 to 1.

Officers Seated By Writers' Group

LOS ANGELES, CP.—Southern California members of the League of Western Writers, which extended up the Pacific slope into Canada, inducted their new officers at a banquet meeting last night.

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By BOB SWANSON

Milk-Men

How many of you middle westerners can remember the days on the farm when you arose bright and early to milk the cows, did your day's work and came home to milk the cows again?

Pleasant thought? Not to most of you. But few farmers or former farmers can recall milking as many cows as the worker at the modern dairy. At the Excelsior dairy, for example, there is a herd of 220 cows to be milked twice daily. That's 28 cows for each man to milk every morning and afternoon.

The men begin milking at 12 o'clock midnight, finish at 4:30 a. m. Second milking begins at 12 o'clock noon, ends at 4:30 p. m. Each man can milk about 10 cows an hour at this dairy—fast work in any language.

Most milkers have been doing that work for years, moving from place to place, officials at the dairy point out. Although milking 10 cows in an hour seems like a big job to most of us, it doesn't tire the professional.

Lumber fingers, rather than big muscles, are the biggest asset, and that's why a milker has to take good care of his hands. Milkers frown on other jobs: working with a shovel or fork—anything necessitating gripping a handle—stiffens fingers, they point out.

Milking cows, of course, is the first step in the milk distributing business. Next job is to pump the milk into vats. Raw (unpasteurized) milk is run over a cooler, placed directly in bottles ready for delivery. The rest is taken to the plant for pasteurizing.

Some 7000 pounds of milk are produced each day at the Excelsior plant, for example, giving some idea of the job of the milker. This dairy has both Guernsey and Holstein cows. Holsteins produce somewhat larger amounts, the Guernseys less milk but of higher grade, dairymen say.

Milk brought to the plant for pasteurizing and bottling is first placed in a holding vat, thence sent into a pre-heater for pasteurizing at a temperature of 142 degrees F. Milk must be held at that temperature for not less than 40 minutes for pasteurizing, officials say.

The pasteurized milk is then run into bottles which are automatically filled and capped, sent to the loading point on a conveyor belt. (One official estimates that about 50 per cent of milk consumed in Orange county is pasteurized. Pasteurizing adds nothing or takes nothing from the milk, but guarantees against possible diseases.)

Delivery of milk today is in sharp contrast to the methods of the early days, when the milkman made the rounds long before dawn in a horse-drawn outfit.

In the early days, milkmen recall, milk was often poured into open dishes left out the front porch. A facetious story is told of a Los Angeles milkman of bygone days who—when running short of milk on his route—would fill a dish only partly full, dip his fingers in the milk, then make "cat tracks" across the porch.

Today milk is produced and graded under the close scrutiny of county, state and even federal authorities. Milk concerns must make periodic reports to a number of governmental agencies.

State regulations require that for a dairy to produce grade A milk it must score 80 or better, the score being based on the construction of the plant, how cows are handled, equipment, sanitation, other factors. To produce guaranteed milk, a dairy must score 90.

Production of certified milk—highest of the grades—is the most carefully regulated of all. A dairy producing certified milk is under the direct supervision of the state medical commission. Here are some of the regulations: Cows must be under the supervision of a veterinarian; employees are given a weekly physical examination by a doctor appointed by the commission; cows are given weekly tests for diseases.

Besides, certified milk must be brought into the plant at a temperature of 60 degrees F. As it is received, a licensed man takes samples for tests and weighing. A licensed bacteriologist and a chemist analyze each tank for sediment, solids, butterfat and bacteria. After pasteurizing, the milk is held at 50 degrees or less until delivered to the consumer.

58th Anniversary Celebrated in C. M.

COSTA MESA.—Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Chilcoat last week celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary, the Costa Mesa Grange surprising them with a pot-luck supper and shower of pottery dishes.

The Chilcoats, who were married in Comanche, Texas, in 1880, have lived on their Paulmarino ranch for 20 years. In addition to their son, Claude, who lives with them, they have four daughters, eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

H. B. Council Prepares to Fight State Over Tideland Oil Lease

CITY UNABLE TO MAKE DEAL WITH DRILLERS

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Armed with a special attorney, the city today prepared finally to go to court against claims of the state of California for a share of proceeds from tideland oil taken in the city limits.

Court action was being planned today by City Atty. Ray Overacker, and George B. Bush of Los Angeles, former legislative counsel for the state, retained yesterday at a special session of the city council.

The council's action toward a court fight followed failure of negotiations with the Southwest Exploration company, which recently obtained a state contract for drilling into the tideland oil pool.

"We could not reach an agreement," said Councilman Tom Talbert today, "and so we're going into court to stop any drilling until we can determine what the city's rights are."

The city claims title to tideland pools lying within the city limits, contending the state has no right to lease those pools for drilling. The Southwest firm had expected to begin drilling operations within two months, and already had begun survey work.

Councilmen and officials of the oil company met for several hours yesterday afternoon before word came that the negotiations had fallen through. Then City Clerk Charles Furr issued a bulletin stating "the city council now will take the necessary action to protect the interests of the city."

Exact form the court action will take was not decided at a conference with Bush and Overacker last night, but the attorneys were expected to study the question further and submit a final report on procedure to the council next Monday night.

The Southwest firm was awarded a state contract to drill 88 wells west of Twenty-Third street and already has staked out sites for two wells. The location, some distance from the actual tidelands, will enable drillers to slant the wells into the rich oil pool.

FLOWER SHOW IN COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA.—The fall flower show, sponsored jointly by the Costa Mesa Garden club and the Community church ladies aid, opened at the social hall here this morning. Mrs. H. B. McMurtry is general chairman.

Exhibits, which will be on display throughout the day, include flowers, fruit, cactus, fancywork and antiques. A special booth of fancywork has been arranged by division one of the ladies aid, while division number two was in charge of the noon luncheon.

The public was invited to attend the exhibits.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

The Costa Mesa Hillbillies orchestra, directed by Mrs. Lena Burdick, will furnish the concert at the Santa Ana Townsend hall mass meeting being held tomorrow evening. The concert will begin at 7 o'clock and continue until 7:30 when the meeting proper will be called to order. The speaker will be A. O. Scholm of Los Angeles who has served the Townsend movement as manager of organization work in the states of Arizona and Washington. Don't miss hearing this man as he is one of our best speakers and has made experience in dealing with Townsend problems. He can tell what he knows and he knows a lot that is worth telling as you will discover Saturday night. Bring your song books and also your neighbor.

Dr. Charles E. Hill came to Santa Ana on Thursday evening of this week as the speaker for a meeting in the Edison school, sponsored by Santa Ana club No. 9. Dr. Hill is the chairman of the Los Angeles Townsend lecture bureau which supplies Townsend speakers for all Southern California.

This meeting was attended by representatives from nearly all the Santa Ana clubs and by those from other Townsend clubs of the county. As a prelude to the regular Townsend program the Hurd-Lentz orchestra furnished a half hour concert of most splendid music.

C. A. Holloway, president of Santa Ana club No. 9 called the audience to order and conducted the preliminary portion of the program, including the singing of the Lord's Prayer and the giving of the pledge of allegiance to the flag. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. J. T. Phillips, secretary of club 9, and then Holloway introduced Walter R. Robb, county organizer to have charge of the rest of the meeting.

Robb gave recognition to Townsend club officials who were present and lauded them for their self-sacrificing in behalf of their organizations and the Townsend cause. He gave a brief survey of the political situation as it related to the progress being made through increased numbers of candidates who are pledging their loyalty and support to the Townsend cause from all over the nation.

Dr. Hill told of his having voted the Republican ticket for 43 years but joined the Townsend party as soon as possible and further stated that he expected to see the Townsend party become not the third party but the first party in point of registered voters by 1940. He urged all Townsends to affiliate themselves with the Townsend party at once.

He deprecated that the present administration in Washington had not seen fit to give opportunity for a hearing of the Townsend plan in the United States congress and ventured the opinion that if its origin had been in the Democratic party that President Roosevelt would have sponsored its enactment into law long ago. Hearty applause followed this statement.

The concluding portion of his address consisted of explanation concerning dissatisfactions which had arisen in the 19th district with high pressure methods which have been used by George Vose and Dr. Warnock to get under large collections from Townsend clubs before which they had appeared as speakers. He voiced the opinion that they should not expect any different compensation as speakers for the clubs than was being received by other capable Townsend lecturers. The audience gave proof of its being of the same opinion by clapping loudly.

Dr. Hill in this connection took occasion to lament that these speakers had made statements in a meeting held in Riverside which were derogatory to William R. Cogswell of San Bernardino who is serving the Townsend cause in this district. Cogswell and Robb of Orange county he said have proved the Warnock were not warranted in attacking these men. The audience gave Hill a great hand as he concluded.

SEA SCOUTS OF 5 STATES WILL MEET NOV. 25

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Sea Scouts from five western states will attend the annual rendezvous here Nov. 25-26-27, with arrangements now being made to accommodate more than 1000 at the Municipal camp grounds.

Sea Scout officials, meeting here this week to plan the three-day encampment, said a comprehensive program of contests, including sailing races by the scout "ships," would highlight the rendezvous.

Scouts from San Diego, Santa Barbara, Monterey, Ventura and Santa Monica are expected to sail to Newport in their own craft. Delegations from Salt Lake City, Utah; Phoenix, Ariz., Nevada and other states will travel by automobile.

National scout officials from the Chicago area and the Atlantic coast will review the encampment. Among scout leaders attending are: J. A. Oliver, of the Old Baldy council; Harrison White, Orange county scout executive; C. A. Wilber, Huntington Beach; C. A. Clarke, Pomona; Harry H. Williamson, mayor, and Commodore T. E. Bouchey, harbor master, of Newport Beach; Jesse B. Wolfe, Santa Ana; E. S. Winchester, Laguna Beach; F. E. Hill, Santa Monica; G. W. Stevens, U. S. navy, Los Angeles; Byron T. Quivey, Santa Ana; Fred W. Eastman, skipper, of the Newport ship, "Ranger"; John Siegel, S. M. Saunders and M. V. Rountree, Newport Beach; B. F. Moller and Frank Mansur, Santa Ana; P. W. Cockrell and Harry Welch, Balboa; and H. K. Dolling, Pomona.

A detailed program will be approved soon and forwarded to all sea scout organizations.

DAILY CHECK TO BE MADE ON CHEST DRIVE

Attention of Community Chest leaders and volunteer workers is now centered on the first report luncheon meeting which will be held Monday noon at campaign headquarters, 215 East Fourth street.

The campaign is now actively under way in all departments, and volunteer workers will bring the results of their efforts since Wednesday night's "kick off" dinner, and will complete their accounting before the luncheon meeting.

Reports turned in up 12:30 p. m. will be included in the tabulation each day. A feature of the daily luncheon programs will be "taking of the campaign temperature." Ten house thermometers back of the speakers' table will record the daily percentages of each of the nine campaign departments, as well as the total for the campaign as a whole. A short but interesting program is promised for each day by E. H. Layton, report luncheon chairman.

The first name for the honor roll of workers reaching 100 per cent of quota, was received at campaign headquarters yesterday afternoon, when Harold E. Nelson, captain of team No. 5 F 4, reported his full quota raised. In addition to reaching 100 per cent of quota as a business district captain, Mr. Nelson also reported 100 per cent results as chairman at the Grand Central market.

The honor roll of 100 per cent workers and organization subscriptions will be announced each day, according to Orlyn N. Robertson, general campaign chairman.

BLIND VOYAGE

Theodora (Teddy) Raynor and Hugo Albright keep receiving peculiar letters from a Dr. Smitting, urging them to sign up for a cruise aboard a motor yacht, the Golden Gull. They call on him, and are told that it is being privately sponsored by an unknown person who, he says, employed him to organize it. A stranger, Denis Graham, gets in touch with them, tells them that he, too, has been invited on the cruise, and urges them not to go, hinting at danger. Nevertheless, they sign up. On the afternoon the yacht is to sail, a friend of Teddy's, Jake Hatty, takes her for a drive, then forcibly detains her in a small restaurant, telling her he means to make her miss the boat. A man with a gun suddenly appears, beats Jake, and tells Teddy to "cover it."

CHAPTER VIII

TEDDY fairly ran out of the restaurant. She leaped into the taxi she found waiting outside, and she gave the driver the location of the pier where the yacht was docked.

Then, she sank back and drew a deep breath. What on earth was the meaning of that extraordinary occurrence? In the first place, why had Jake tried to stop her from sailing? Could Denis Graham have put him up to it? And who was the man who had made her escape possible? Had he been following them? Teddy was completely bewildered by it all.

It was a few minutes past six when the taxi drew up at the pier. Teddy pushed some money into the driver's hand, and ran down the dock.

She saw Hugo pacing nervously up and down in front of the yacht's gangplank. He looked very much relieved, and a trifle angry, when he caught sight of her.

"What under the sun—" "Not my fault," she said breathlessly. "Is Auntie here?" When he nodded, she added, "Let's get aboard and I'll tell you what happened."

They climbed the gangplank and were met immediately by Aunt Elsie.

"Theodora..." "Let's go to our cabin," Teddy interrupted.

"I'll join you in a sec," Hugo murmured. "I want to let the captain know you've arrived." He disappeared.

Aunt Elsie, frowning, led Teddy to their cabin.

"And now, will you explain yourself, Theodora!"

Teddy quickly told her story.

"But why should he want to prevent your sailing?" her aunt exclaimed. "I don't like this, Theodora! Not at all!"

Just then, Hugo appeared, and Teddy told her tale again.

"Graham," said Hugo tersely, when she had finished.

"It's the only answer I can find," Teddy agreed.

Aunt Elsie looked bewildered. "I don't see..."

"Neither do we," Teddy interrupted. "Anyway, here I am, and it sounds as though we were about to sail. Let's go up on deck."

Aunt Elsie wanted to unpack, so Teddy and Hugo went up without her.

AS SHE started down the companionway, a man was coming up—a medium-sized, rather thin man. He stepped aside to let her pass.

"Thank you," Teddy murmured, then suddenly stopped.

There was something very familiar about him.

"Haven't we met before?" she said hesitantly.

"I think not."

His answer was a mumble, but Teddy was almost sure she had heard that voice before.

She smiled brightly. "My name is Raynor—Theodora Raynor."

The man made a little jerk with his head, but he didn't reply.

Teddy was about to move on when, suddenly, she remembered where she had heard his voice.

She turned back to face him.

"Wait a minute," she said slowly. "I know now where we met. You are the man who helped me get away from Jake Hatty!"

The man's face remained perfectly blank.

Yours truly made a mistake, Miss Raynor. I've never seen you before—except in newspaper pictures." As an afterthought, he added, "My name is Parrin—Roy Parrin—and I used to be an acrobat with Wingly's circus."

"Sorry," Teddy murmured. "I thought you were someone else."

She went on her way, but she was positive she had not made a mistake.

Changing her mind about unpacking, she went to the lounge and rang for the steward. A small, neat little man with grey hair appeared.

"Is a Mr. Denis Graham on board?" she asked.

"Yes, miss."

"Ask him to come here, please—if it is convenient."

Then, she sat down to wait.

Suspect Freed In Hit-Run Case

ANAHEIM.—A suspect in the hit-run traffic death of a 72-year-old pedestrian here Tuesday was released by Anaheim police yesterday afternoon after an investigation.

The driver, whose name was not revealed, was taken into custody by Anaheim officers early yesterday after it was reported blood stains were found on his car. Police said it proved to be a false lead.

BRITISH POUND HITS SLUMP

NEW YORK. (AP)—The British pound declined more than a cent and the French franc dipped moderately in terms of the dollar today in quiet foreign exchange dealings.

Renewed easiness of these units, according to banking officials, was due mainly to hesitancy caused by further German demands in Czechoslovakia and gloomy spots in the French financial picture. Commercial interest in the market, it was said, was small.

The belga advanced .01 of a cent, the guilder lost a similar amount and the Swiss franc was unchanged.

DONS CLASH WITH U. C. L. A. FROSH TONIGHT

TIMKEN AND ARNETT SET FOR CONTEST

Staging their fourth and final "dress rehearsal" for Eastern conference play next week, Santa Ana Jaysees' Dons go into the Municipal bowl to battle the U. C. L. A. Freshmen at 8 o'clock tonight. Admission will be 40 cents for adults, 25 cents for children.

The game, which has all the earmarks of an attractive one, will be Santa Ana's final practice brush before the Dons start "playing for keeps" with Al Claves' Citrus Fawns at Azusa a week from tonight.

Led by a flashy halfback named Leo (The Lion) Cantor at left halfback, Coach Norman Duncan's U. C. L. A. yearlings will be out to compensate for a 14-6 game they dropped to the University of California freshmen in Berkeley last Saturday. They also defeated the week before by Chaffey Junior college, 7-0.

The Dons have displayed a world of fire in drill this week, and stand an excellent chance of upsetting the Westwooders. Santa Ana has average 15 points per game in three other non-conference starts. After losing to Pasadena's great club 31-19 in the Rose bowl, the Dons stopped Santa Monica J. C. 21-0 and Los Angeles City college 6-0.

Showing signs of the U. C. L. A. Frosh will determine to a great extent which players will receive the opening call against Citrus in the start of the Eastern conference campaign. Coaches Bill Cook and John Ward have been juggling combinations in an effort to discover their strongest one, which may be uncovered tonight.

Ed Becker, giant tackle who was moved to left halfback in an experiment this week, may play he will be in the line most of the part time in his new post, but even for the Dons.

Yankees, Cubs Move to New York

THIRD GAME OF SERIES TOMORROW

(Tomorrow's game will be broadcast over three national hook-ups beginning at 10:30 a. m., P. S. T.)

EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK. (AP)—Except for the fashionable huzzahs that were sounded about Sunday night in the Yankee stadium, that glittering gathering place of baseball's socialists in the Bronx, the 1938 World Series appears to be all wrapped up.

The Yankees are too good. Too good for the Chicago Cubs, and possibly too good for the future of baseball. As the two clubs head into New York to resume the unequal contest on Saturday with the Yankees already twice victorious, there isn't much to wonder about except whether Colonel Jake Ruppert's super team will make it four straight.

CUB FANS GIVE UP. The general belief on this railway carriage is that they will. When Frank Crosetti and Joe DiMaggio rapped those late inning home runs to beat Dizzy Dean, 6 to 3, yesterday, the most obstinate backers of the Cubs gave up.

If the Yanks had done it sooner it wouldn't have been quite so bad. But they messed along and let Ditz look like the biggest hero since Sergeant York for seven and two-thirds innings. Then they reached out and slapped him down. It seemed like something went out of baseball when Ditz shuffled off the field in the ninth, with a final quick glance at the left field wall that had wrecked his hopes.

What chance the Cubs had of outgaming or outkicking the world champions in the series went off the field with Ditz. If he had won his great effort by the score of 3 to 2 as it looked like he would go into the eighth, then the series might have developed into a dog fight. But no club, barring a miracle, can spot this Yankee team two games.

For those who are impressed by figures, yesterday's was the 20th victory scored by the Yankees in their 23 World Series games since 1927. No club ever before so dominated the game. Their weakest member, Frankie Crosetti, high lighted the opening game with his fielding and yesterday the little shortstop with the piping voice hit the homer that virtually settled the series. Maybe that is significant.

It is a happy job pitching for the Yankees. Vernon (Lefty) Gomez yesterday became the first pitcher ever to win his sixth straight World Series victory without having suffered a loss, and El Goofy was enjoying a nice warm shower at the time.

Lefty, who had been maced right merrily by the Cubs as they ran up a 3 to 2 lead in the early innings, had retired for a pinch-hitter just before Crosetti bugged-whipped Ditz's "fast ball" into the bleachers in the eighth. In fact, it was the pinch-hitter, Myril Hoag, who rode in on the big punch, so that made Lefty the winning pitcher.

YANKS ADMIRE DEAN. Dean's "fast ball" is enclosed in quotations because it is very slow compared to the specimens that Ditz used to rear back and fire across the plate in other days when he strode the mound like a colossus and stared in astonishment when somebody knocked one back at him. But it is the best fast ball he has now. Nobody will ever know how he held the Yankees to three hits, one of them an outright piece of luck, for seven innings.

After the game Manager Joe McCarthy patted himself over the heart and said: "That fellow Dean has one of these." Hartnett said in the dressing room: "Ditz, you gave me everything you had—and with a sore arm." For all their jubilation at the victory, the Yanks came out of it with a genuine admiration for Dean.

DiMaggio's mighty blow in the ninth with Henrich on base seemed an afterthought, for the game already was won and lost. The tall Italian caught the first pitch, a slow "nothing ball," and practically knocked it out of sight. By that time the crowd of 42,000 loyal Cub rooters was beyond all pain.

Loyola Girds for St. Mary's Gaels

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Loyola university's football team slacked down in training today, and was declared ready to give St. Mary's the toughest struggle in the history of the two schools when they play in Memorial Coliseum Sunday.

Gehrig Scores Series' First Run

To Lou Gehrig, Yankee first baseman, went the honor of scoring the first run of the 1938 World Series. Here he is crossing home in the second inning of the game at Wrigley field in Chicago, while Manager and Catcher Gabby Hartnett stands helplessly by. He had walked and came in on Selkirk's bouncer which Billy Herman fumbled.

DOTS AND DASHES, ONE OR TWO GRID FLASHES

Two Santa Ana boys, Bill Milligan and Milton Smith, will be in the U. C. L. A. Frosh lineup against our Dons in that non-conference football attraction in the Municipal bowl. Milligan, a tackle, wears No. 43 jersey, and is listed as a starter. Smith, elongated end, wears No. 38. He probably won't start, but should see lots of action.

Leo (The Lion) Cantor, left halfback who wears No. 12 jersey, is heralded as the backfield flash whom the Dons must stop tonight. He runs, punts and passes with skill. Against the University of California Frosh last week, he booted the ball six times for an average of 42 yards and got off two punts of 53 and 54 yards from the line of scrimmage. He packed the ball for sizable gains, including runs of 17 and 27 yards. Cantor also completed 6 out of 11 passes, his longest loss of 34 yards to Santa Ana's Smith setting up U. C. L. A.'s score on the Berkeley yearlings. Inside the 10-yard line, Cantor skirted end and scored on the very next play following Smith's catch.

Although beaten 14-6, Norman Duncan's Bruhubs outgained the California Frosh 190 yards to 160, and rolled up 12 first downs to the Bears' 8.

CROSETTI, DIMAGGIO GIVE CUBS HEADACHE

Ardent fans of the Chicago Cubs

were in high spirits for seven innings of that second game at Wrigley field yesterday. . . . Who would have thought that Dizzy Dean, hurling so magnificently, would have lost after yielding only three hits up to the eighth inning? . . . Frankie Crosetti blasted a home run with one aboard to send the Cubs into the lead, 4-3, and then Joe DiMaggio hit for the circuit with one aboard as an anti-climax in the ninth to win, 6-3.

That defeat undoubtedly took a lot of starch out of the Cubs' attack, and it is likely that the Yankees will have a better time in New York Saturday, Sunday and Monday. . . . Chances are very, very slim that there will be any more games at Wrigley field in Chicago. . . . The sixth and seventh games (if necessary) are slated there Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

ORANGE COUNTY TO HAVE TWO TRAINING CAMPS

Negotiations are underway to bring Seattle's Coast league club to Anaheim's new baseball park for spring training next year. Portland is planning to return to America park, Fullerton, in '39, which will be a "break" for Orange county baseball fans.

The Pittsburgh Pirates plan to return to San Bernardino, and probably will be scheduled by both Portland and Seattle for exhibitions in the county.

CHICKS TAKE TEAM MATCH

Off to a poor start, Dude and Bobby Chick nevertheless came back to win the last two falls and the team match from Britt brothers, Alvin and Floyd, in wrestling at the Orange County Athletic club last night.

The Britt combination took the first fall by pinning Dude in 17 min. 51 sec. and ending the fall by doubling up on Bobby Chick in 18:34. In the second fall, Floyd Britt was eliminated by an airplane spin, and the Chicks pinned Alvin Britt with a body press to win in 10 min. 2 sec. In the third fall, the Britts succeeded in twisting Dude up in the ropes and pinned Bobby's shoulders. Singhanded, Dude really got rough and with the aid of several fans, put both the Britt boys out of commission to win the match.

Monty LeDue, the Frenchman who was so rough he was nearly mobbed by the spectators, defeated Josef Smalinski in 18:33 with a step-over toe hold and in 1:07 in two straight falls. Referee Jack Allen was given a workout keeping LeDue from choking and pulling hair.

One of the most exciting bouts was staged by Bobby Wagner and

CHOICE GAMES ON NATIONAL GRID SLATE

By HERBERT W. BARKER

NEW YORK. (AP)—A crystal ball in one hand and a double dose of spirits of ammonia in the other, this football corner resumes the weekly guessing contest, ignoring an uncanny hunch that a flock of favorites are about to get their ears beaten off.

Army-Columbia: They've been calling this Army outfit a "mystery team" but there's no mystery about why Columbia handed Yale a neat shellacking last week. His name's Sid Luckman and he throws passes like no one else does around these here parts. This ball, cast from the recesses of an armored car, goes to Columbia.

Minnesota-Purdue: There's plenty of speed in this Purdue team but the Minnesotans have a way of slowing down the opposition along about the third or fourth period. Minnesota.

Ohio State-Southern California: Howard Jones' Trojan behemoths have been major disappointments so far but Ohio State wasn't exactly a ball of fire against Indiana. Out of an impenetrable fog, Ohio State.

Georgia Tech-Notre Dame: Unless the Atlanta Engineers have had the foresight to throw up a barrier of barbed wire entanglements, Notre Dame looks safe. The Uclans seem to do much better at home but this one ought to be close. Out of the Fedora, U. C. L. A.

Arkansas-Baylor: The normal way to pick a Southwest conference winner is to decide the first, which team looks best and then take the other one. So saying, Arkansas.

Santa Clara-Texas A. and M.: The way Santa Clara's Broncos pushed Stanford around was nothing short of astounding. The Aggies look good but not good enough. Santa Clara.

Louisiana State-Rice: The Tiger and the Owl, the coin, going into action for the first time, says L. S. U.

Kansas State-Missouri: State an edge.

Stanford - Washington State: Stanford ought to get back on the track in this one.

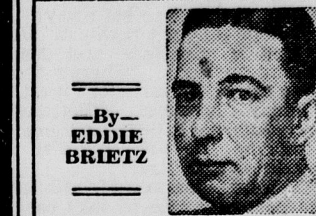

FULLERTON AND ANAHEIM MIX

Prep school elevens of Anaheim and Fullerton will collide under the Fullerton stadium arms in a non-league game at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Art Shipkey will carry the brunt of the Anaheim attack at fullback.

Fullerton, under new Coach Frank Williamson, will employ a backfield of Art Pryor or Babe Cox, quarter; Fowler and Swisher, halves, and Joe Noutary, fullback.

SPORTS Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Yankee jockey department, ably headed by Prof. Art Fletcher, is riding the hide off the Cubs for not giving Grimm a series out. . . . The Smiths no longer have it. The name of Williams leads all the others on Southwest conference squad lists. . . . Some Eastern writers are hinting Jimmy Fox, dicked the last game of the season to guard against losing the batting championship. Say it ain't so, Jimmy. . . . Charlie Bachman, Michigan State coach, has been wearing the same pair of shoes to football games for 10 years.

They say Bill Terry is trying to trade Hank Leiber for Vince DiMaggio. . . . Colonel Ruppert wired his Newark and Kansas City clubs he hoped both would win the "Little World's Series."

Wayne La Master, the Dodger pitcher, wired Billy Herman to get him a pair for the series, but Herman wouldn't do it because he said La Master gets him out too often. . . . They're trying out portable goal posts at Rockford, Ill., tonight in a high school game between Rockford and Chicago's John Marshall.

As soon as the series is over, Rip Collins will go on a six weeks' vaudeville tour with Pepper Martin's Music at $300 per week. . . . There will be more football scouts than you can count in Atlanta tomorrow when Notre Dame plays Georgia Tech.

RACES OPEN AT BAY MEADOWS

SAN MATEO. (AP)—Main Man, recently purchased by Louis B. Mayer, Hollywood movie magnate, today was given top weight of 124 pounds in both the six furlong inaugural handicap and one mile San Jose handicap, features of inaugural day tomorrow at Bay Meadows' race track.

Main Man was named overnight for both events. Trainer T. D. Grimes said he would determine today in which race the former Eastern star will start.

Other entries in the inaugural with their weights are Dogaway, 122; Happy Bolivar, 112; Brown Jade, 111; Routine, 108; Sky Lark, 108; Cue Ball, 106, and Klister, 104.

The $1500 added San Jose field included, in addition to Main Man, King Caxon at 116; Captain Cal,

TWO GAMES ARE CARDED IN PACIFIC COAST CONFERENCE

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—While there will be plenty of choice morsels on Saturday's football menu, only two Pacific Coast conference games will be played.

At Los Angeles the University of Washington, which last week was held to a 12 to 1 tie by University of Idaho, opens its conference campaign against U. C. L. A. The Uclans, beaten by Oregon in their first league game, hope to avenge a 26 to 0 setback given them by the Huskies at Seattle last year. Washington, hailed as championship caliber at the start of the season, has been plagued by injuries since dropping its opener against Minnesota two weeks ago.

In the other conference clash, Stanford, although badly laced by Santa Clara's Broncos last Saturday, is favored 2 to 1 to defeat a weak Washington State team at Palo Alto. The Cougars have lost two conference games, the first to Oregon and the second to California. It will be the first conference contest for Stanford.

California, title defender, has a bruising spell. It plays a double header with the Cal Aggies and the College of Pacific. Coach Stub Allison has been working his

Uclan's Run Unsolved by Grid Camera

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The U. C. L. A.-Oregon football game of last week had turned today into the No. 1 movie mystery of the season.

A picture purporting to be the camera record of U. C. L. A.'s 14-12 defeat by the Webfoots was unveiled before Bruin coaches and players last night.

Every play of the game apparently was shown—except one. And that one was Charlie Fenenock's 54-yard touchdown run in the last two minutes of the contest, which was called back on a ruling by Referee Tom Louttit that one of the U. C. L. A.'s ball carriers' knees had touched the ground at the line of scrimmage.

Bruin sympathizers had expected the movie would settle the argument over Louttit's decision.

118; Count Atlas, 113; Ariel Cross, 111; Amor Brujo, 111; Routine, 109; Advocate, 108; Masker, 107, and Sun Portland, 107.

The third ranking foreign doubles team, Ronald Shaves and Eric Finnegan of England, was eliminated by Frank Kovacs of Oakland and Jack Smeltzer of Berkeley, 1-6, 6-2, 6-3.

CIVIL SERVICE BOARD PROBES CASE OF FIGHTING WOMEN

President Expected to Launch
Effort to Bring Together Rival
Union Groups, Declares Broun

HYDE PARK, N. Y. (AP)—President Roosevelt may make a new effort to bring about peace between Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Following the chief executive's recent "labor peace" message to President William Green of the A. F. of L., two callers at the summer white house reported late yesterday they had urged Mr. Roosevelt to appoint a non-partisan, fact-finding commission to investigate labor conditions.

The callers were Heywood Broun, the columnist, and Morris Watson, both spokesmen for the American Newspaper Guild, a CIO affiliate.

Broun said Mr. Roosevelt took the recommendation under consideration.

The writer, chatting with newspapermen after his talk with the President, said that the special commission might do a service to the country merely by reporting the facts on the present labor situation.

The group would be similar to that which recently investigated labor conditions in Great Britain and Sweden, he said. The commission which went abroad reported it was impressed by the friendly relations between employers and employees.

Besides surveying the organized labor situation, Broun told reporters, a special commission also could look into the problems of unorganized workers and seek to ascertain where the interests of farmers parallel those of labor.

He said that among individuals he mentioned to the President for possible appointment to the commission were: General Hugh Johnson, former NRA administrator; Governor Herbert Lehman of New York; Ed McGrady, former assistant secretary of labor; President J. M. Paterson of the New York Daily News; William Allen White, the Kansas editor; Lloyd Garrison, dean of the University of Wisconsin law school; Senator George W. Norris (Ind., Neb.), and Chief Justice Stacey of the North Carolina supreme court.

Broun said that appointment of a fact finding commission would be effective because it would give the public needed information on the labor situation.

The commission report would contain no recommendations, he said, but it might be followed by legislation, cooperation between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O., or presidential mediation between the divergent labor organizations.

Mr. Roosevelt already has indicated that the administration may seek some changes in the Wagner labor act during the next session of congress.

Watson, who once worked with the WPA's "living newspaper" project in New York, said he discussed with the President the problems of transient jobless newspaper men who cannot qualify for relief because two years residence in a community is required. Watson said he urged special consideration for such workers and asked that "living newspaper" projects be set up in other cities.

Questioned at his press conference regarding the suggested fact finding commission, Mr. Roosevelt said he had promised Broun the proposal would be studied. As to Watson's suggestion for some new aid to migration newspapermen, the chief executive said the main problem was developing projects which would not involve too much overhead expense.

Officer Under Suspension for Allegedly Not Defending Wife;
Decision Is Due in Two Weeks

The Santa Ana civil service commission—sitting as a trial court for the first time since the civil service ordinance was enacted six months ago—last night heard testimony in the hearing of Police Officer H. E. Holmes, charged with violation of duty.

Chairman George Parker said the commission will study the evidence and notify the participants of its findings. He indicated a decision probably would not be reached before two weeks.

Mr. Holmes' dismissal from the police department and the classified civil service, its findings will be presented to the city council for final action.

Charged with failure to protect his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Holmes, from assault and battery at the hands of Mrs. Gladys Durham in a street altercation Sept. 14, Holmes denied from the stand last night that he stood by without interfering.

Holmes testified that he walked away when the two women started arguing in the hopes they would leave. He was 15 feet away when they started fighting, he said, and by the time he could get to them they had grappled and fallen on the sidewalk.

Varying versions of how the fight started were given in testimony by Mrs. Holmes and by Mrs. Durham.

Mrs. Holmes—who said she had been separated from her husband for about a year—testified Mrs. Durham "struck me when I walked around the car and the next thing I remembered I was on the sidewalk and she was sitting on me pounding me with her fists." She said Officer Holmes, who was not on duty, was standing nearby "within reaching distance."

Mrs. Durham testified "she began calling me names. I told her she wouldn't get out of the car and call me that." Mrs. Durham said "she struck me and knocked my glasses off."

WITNESS ON STAND
W. O. Packard, city electrician, a witness to the fight, testified he was driving along the street when he saw the women clash. He said Holmes was standing nearby.

Packard testified that he drove to the opposite side of the street, got out, came across the street, and pulled one of the women to her feet. He said Holmes then helped the other woman to her feet.

In a final plea to the court, Charles Swanner, attorney for Officer Holmes, pointed to enmity between Mr. and Mrs. Holmes; said all the witnesses testified that a very short period of time elapsed between the start of the fight and when Holmes got to them.

He said the civil service ordinance provides dismissal only upon three grounds—misconduct, inefficiency, or insubordination. There was no evidence of misconduct on the part of Holmes, he said, as he did all that was possible to separate the women.

City Attorney L. W. Blodgett closed with a reminder to the commission that it consider the testimony of the "one disinterested witness."

Officer Holmes has been suspended by Chief of Police Floyd Howard pending outcome of the trial.

ENGINEERS OF
J. C. TO MEET

Prospects and members of the Santa Ana Junior college chapter of the American Association of Engineers will be entertained with various engineering exhibits and displays when they meet next Wednesday evening in College hall.

Keith Tantlinger, president of the local chapter, said that new members will be selected in the near future. To become a member of the organization students must have a high scholastic rating and be majoring in engineering, Tantlinger said.

Aside from Tantlinger other officers are Ted Richard, vice-president; Warren Hall, treasurer, and Thompson McNeal, secretary. H. O. Russell is faculty advisor.

Aviator Sounds
Fire Alarm From
Sky; House Saved

FRANKFORT, Ind. (AP)—Hop McBride heard an aviator overhead cut his motor and swoop low toward him. He looked up.

The flyer leaned from the cockpit and yelled "fire!"

McBride looked around, saw Neighbor Robert Van Nuy's roof ablaze. Firemen saved the house.

'Flatfoot' Flatly
Proves Heckler
Has the Flatfoot

DES MOINES, (AP)—One of a passing group of youths yelled "hey there flatfoot" to Patrolman Martin Brightman.

Brightman promptly ordered the jibing youth to remove his shoe. The youth's foot was level from toe to heel when he placed it on the sidewalk.

Then the patrolman removed his own shoe and displayed a curved arch.

The youth's face reddened as his companions turned to him and cried "hey there flatfoot."

Clothesline Used
To Tell Railmen
Of World Series

ROCKFORD, Mont. (AP)—Workers on the railroads and mine timber framing plant in this suburb of Butte get their World Series results by direct wire—the clothesline of Mrs. F. D. Markell.

Reserving one end of the line for the Chicago Cubs and the other for the New York Yankees, Mrs. Markell hangs up a sock or strip of bright calico, to indicate a run, and the several hundred workmen know at a glance which team is ahead.

$30 Thursday Meet
Set for Tuesday

Persons interested in the "$30 every Thursday" pension plan have been invited to a public meeting to be held in the American Legion hall next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, it was announced today.

The plan will be discussed by a speaker, who has not as yet been named. Public discussion will also be held.

2 ACCIDENTS;
NONE INJURED

No one was injured in two accidents on Orange county's highways yesterday, California highway patrolmen reported today.

Automobiles driven by Samuel M. Blake, 55, of Glendale, and Fred Meyer, 44, of Midway City, collided at the intersection of state route 183 and Bolsa, five miles west of Santa Ana, officers said.

The other accident occurred last night on Manchester, one-half mile west of Anaheim, when cars operated by Otis Faulkner, 30, 1209 West Fourth street, and W. S. Sanders, Pomona, collided.

Oliver Moves His Bedroom, Creates
Voting Problem

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—City officials have a problem in deciding the legality of Oliver Haas' vote—all because he moved his bedroom.

The city line extends through Haas' home and he pays city taxes only on the city half of the property, sleeps in the "rural" half.

It's up to city officials to decide whether Haas' place of residence is decided by his waking or sleeping abode.

Teachers Slow to Learn Own Lesson

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—City police who helped organize traffic safety squads in the schools this fall made a check to determine the results. Their faces reddened as they watched pedestrians at a street corner and saw three walk against the red light. All were teachers.

NEW UNIFORM
FOR J. C. BAND

Santa Ana Junior college's 7-piece band will be decked out in new uniforms at the next home football game next Friday, Director D. K. Hammond announced today.

Although the budget had provided for new uniforms at the time the organization was first formulated, the director indicated that they wanted to be certain of the turnout before making purchases.

The uniforms will consist of white sweaters, trimmed in red, with red and black caps. Alan A. Revell, music instructor, is director of the band.

PRIVATE SLAIN
IN L. A. FIGHT

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The street fight slaying of Leo Ridgeway, 25, army private of Fort MacArthur, puzzled police today.

A $5000 permit was granted to Ernest C. Rogers, 1820 North Ross street, for a residence and garage to be constructed at 1311 Freeman.

A permit valued at $6000 was issued to Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brashier, 1001 Lowell, for a residence and garage at 1301 Freeman.

Virgil Pierce, Santa Ana, received a permit to construct a $3500 home at 1209 South Flower street. Louis J. Stuenkel will build a $200 garage at 2552 Santiago street.

One man struck Ridgeway on the chin, then hit him again after he fell to the pavement. The other two held Burt, the latter said.

Burt was unable to give a motive for the attack or identify the trio. Ridgeway died of his injuries.

SIX ORANGE CO. BOYS TO TAKE EXAMINATIONS

Six Orange county boys will take competitive examinations for West Point and Annapolis tomorrow morning, Congressman Harry R. Sheppard said today.

Examinations will be held at the postoffice here; and the local youths will be competing with 33 others who will be examined simultaneously at Riverside and San Bernardino. Highest men in the tests, regardless of political affiliation, will get the appointments, Sheppard said.

Trying for the West Point appointments are Tom Hudspeth, Edward Mathis Mills, Ben C. C. Steffens and Robert Swigart. Contestants who hope to go to Annapolis for a naval commission are Ernest Barrett and Basil King Williamson.

Sun Spots to Show 'Double Maximum' in Activity, Say Mount Wilson Scientists

PASADENA. (AP) — Whatever disturbing effects sun spots may have on the earth, the sun is just passing its greatest maximum of spot activity in modern times.

Records at the Carnegie institution's Mount Wilson observatory showed today there have been more spots on the sun for the past two years than for any similar period since 1870.

"We were inclined to believe the maximum of the normally 11-year cycle had been reached in July 1937," said Dr. Frederick H. Seares, assistant observatory director, "until last July and August came along."

"Now it appears the cycle curve will show a double maximum. And of course there is a bare possibility the maximum yet lies ahead, although this seems unlikely."

Some persons have attributed the world's unrest, including war and threats of war, and fluctuations in the stock market, to sun spots.

Astronomers here, however, are content to charge disruption of telephone, telegraph and short wave radio broadcasts to the solar disturbances, and add a possible minor influence on the weather.

Dr. Seth B. Nicholson reported here that the largest spot groups of the present cycle have been among the six largest ever observed and the daily average of 9.9 spots for 1937 was the highest in the history of Mt. Wilson. The average for this year so far has been 10.02, but the sun spot activity is declining now and the figure for the year may be under that of 1937.

RETAIL TRADE ON UPGRADE

NEW YORK. (AP) — Favorable weather conditions stimulated retail trade during the past week, permitting most regions to show more favorable comparisons with volume for the same period last year, said Dun & Bradstreet today in their weekly trade summary.

For the country as a whole the year to year comparison ranged between 2 per cent above and 8 per cent below, and gains in the week "were broader than during the corresponding period of 1937."

Return to more nearly normal conditions in New England cities allowed buying in that section to approach within 3 to 8 per cent of the 1937 level, the review said.

Felix Frankfurter To Visit F.D.R. Late This Week

HYDE PARK. (AP) — President Roosevelt told his press conference today that Prof. Felix Frankfurter of the Harvard law school would visit the summer white house this week-end.

Frankfurter has been widely mentioned as a possible appointee to the supreme court. The recent death of Justice Benjamin Cardozo left a vacancy on the high bench.

Mr. Roosevelt had nothing to say about the court appointment, however. He said that Frankfurter customarily visits him about this time of year.

MOVIE LIBEL SUIT BEATEN

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., today was winner in a $100,000 libel suit based on a motion picture which Chairman Vivian Stanley of the Georgia prison and parole commission contended was made from the novel, "I Am a Fugitive From a Georgia Chain Gang."

A superior court jury here last night dismissed the suit, brought against the makers and a number of distributors and exhibitors of the film.

Stanley, a member of the former state prison commission, contended he and other members of the commission were held up to scorn and ridicule as a result of the picture, released in 1932.

Bund Is Declared Strictly American

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — "Strictly American" is District Commander Arno Risses' description of the German-American Bund.

"Eighty per cent of our members are born in the United States," Risses said, in denying testimony in Washington that the bund was affiliated with the Ku Klux Klan.

INSURGENTS MOVE AHEAD

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier). (AP)—Insurgent dispatches reported today that insurgent troops continued to advance on the Ebro river front where they were fighting hand-to-hand for each strongly fortified government position.

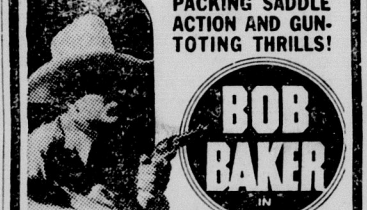

None of the positions which they said they captured, however, was specified in the insurgent bulletins which admitted the government militia men were counter-attacking.

Government reports said all insurgent attacks broke against firm government resistance and that insurgent generalissimo Francisco Franco's legionnaires had suffered heavy losses.

Service Club Gives First Of Parties

Chinese maidens padded around the spacious rooms of the Robert Speed home on Santiago street last evening when Las Meninas Service club entertained 30 rushes at a Chinese party.

The guests were seated on cushions arranged on the floor, Oriental fashion, while dinner was served. Tiny Chinese sandals were favors, and entertainment consisted of games in the same theme.

With the rushes, Miss Dorothy and Miss Genevieve Humiston, club advisors, were Misses Helen Andrews, Betty Neff, Juanita Stanfield, Betty Munson, Alton Miller, Eileen Gibbs, Erisis Davis, Jo Butler, Stella Christ, Mary Ann Goss, Isa Grace Young, Barbara Speed, Dorothy Black, Evelyn Eltiste, Irene Simons, Maxine Knight, and alumnae were Misses Gracie Adams, Peggy Akerman, Helen Gowe and Dorothy Newman.

In charge of arrangements were Miss Maxine Knight, favors; Miss Jo Butler, invitations; Miss Isa Grace Young and Miss Alton Miller, transportation; Miss Betty Munson, refreshments; and Miss Eileen Gibbs, entertainment.

BRIDE-TO-BE IS FETED AT SHOWER

When Miss Mary Belle Arnold announced that her marriage to Lester Selby will take place some time this month, Mrs. Milton Arnold, her sister-in-law, and Mrs. Frank Johnson honored her with a miscellaneous shower Wednesday night in the former's home at 726 South Birch street.

The hostess trio used cat-tails, and chrysanthemums in yellow and orchid shades in the decoration scheme and a clever wedding party had been arranged on a big table. Miss Arnold found her gifts placed around this miniature scene.

During an evening of cards, Mrs. Annie Arnold and Mrs. Ada Belle Cope were awarded prizes for high scores. Later, a dessert course was served.

Those present at the affair were Mrs. Annie Arnold, mother of Miss Arnold, Mrs. Mabel Reed, Mrs. Ada Bell Cope, Mrs. Wanda Cole, Mrs. Maude Harbour, Mrs. Mildred Ewart, Mrs. Charles Selby, Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. J. William Beech, Mrs. Sadie House, Mrs. Gladys Oberlin of Orange, Mrs. Lee Jump, Mrs. Edward Sugien all of Santa Ana; Mrs. Margaretta Howard of Laguna Beach, Mrs. Lee Finch, Glendale, Mrs. Grace Decker, Ocean View, Mrs. William Gilbert, Trabuco, Mrs. Carl Becker, Tustin and Mrs. Ruth Hobbs, Orange.

Miss Arnold attended city schools, and the groom-elect, who is the son of Mrs. Charles Selby, is in business in Santa Ana.

WOMAN'S CLUB SECTIONS MEET

Two sections of the Woman's club of Santa Ana will meet during the coming week, and both are events of Tuesday.

Poetry section will convene at 9:30 a. m. at the home of Miss Blanche Seeley, 2449 North Park boulevard. Philanthropy section will meet at 12:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. E. I. Ahern in Tustin, for a potluck luncheon.

Mrs. Vallely Comes To Ebell Monday

Eyes of members of the Ebell club of the Santa Ana valley are turned with much interest toward Mrs. Jack Vallely's initial appearance of the season, an event of next Monday afternoon, for they are anticipating not only her customary succinct analysis of world affairs, but a stimulating review of recent and summer publications.

Choosing as her keynote a quotation from Henry Adams, "What always astonishes me most in governments is their incredible ignorance and imbecile helplessness," Mrs. Vallely will include reviews of 10 books in the program that will lead off with a summing up of European current happenings.

Titles released today include "Save America First (Jerome Frank)," "The Coming Struggle for Latin America (Carlton Beals)," "With Malice Toward Some" (Margaret Halsey), "Three a Stranger" (Vera Brittain), "Morally We Roll Along" (Gay MacLaren), "The Big Four" (Oscar Lewis), "Horse and Buggy Doctor" (Arthur E. Hertzler), "Sailor on Horseback" (Irving Stone), "Fanny Kemble" (Margaret Armstrong), and "Dynasty of Death" (Taylor Caldwell).

MRS. CROOKSHANK IS HOSTESS

Mrs. Ronald Crookshank was hostess last evening to her Fort-nightly bridge club. High scores at the end of play were held by Mrs. Edmund West and Mrs. Russell Wilson.

Present with Mrs. Crookshank, Mrs. West and Mrs. Wilson were Mrs. Herbert Stroschein, Mrs. Arthur Wade, Mrs. Jack Hanna, Mrs. Ray Tarr and Miss Mary Safley, who will entertain the group in two weeks.

GROUP MEETS FOR LUNCHEON

With Mrs. Myra Gibson, Mrs. Carrie Sherrill, Mrs. Berry Heemstra and Mrs. L. R. Musick as hostesses, members of the United Presbyterian Women's Missionary society met in the church halls for a luncheon on Wednesday.

In keeping with the season, black and orange decorations had been used on the tables.

Following the luncheon hour, the society was called to order by Mrs. Cara Torrens, president for the year. Mrs. W. S. Kennedy led the devotional service. Subject for the program was travel, with Mrs. O. S. Johnston giving an interesting account of her summer months spent in the Antipodes. Mrs. Grace Knipe, of the junior college faculty, gave a talk upon her European trip which she took this past summer, dwelling especially upon conditions in Czechoslovakia. The Rev. A. E. Kelly, pastor of the church, concluded the program with a short address.

CHILD STUDY

Child Study section of Ebell club will meet Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Charles McDaniel, jr., 2446 North Park boulevard. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Raymond Harvey and Mrs. Kenneth Conner, and the speaker will be Carl Reinberg, discussing "Vitamins."

CHILD STUDY GROUP IS ENTERTAINED

Members of the Mother's Child-Study club were entertained last night in the home of Mrs. Loren Spencer at 1301 South Van Ness street. Discussion topic for the evening was "Obedience Made Easy," with Mrs. Ernest Hill leading the group.

Just before serving a dessert course, club members presented Mrs. Virgil Kiser and Mrs. Nylin Hurd with lovely gifts, attractively tied, and topped with a corsage.

Present were Mrs. John Adams, Mrs. John Fraley, Mrs. Herbert Hason, Mrs. Ernest Hill, Mrs. Nylin Hurd, Mrs. Virgil Kiser, Mrs. Guy Matias, Mrs. Rex McGill, Mrs. Herbert Parsons, Mrs. Cecil Sauers, Mrs. Josh Wilson, Mrs. Forrest White, Mrs. Cotton Bennett, Mrs. William Humphrey, and the hostess.

Next meeting of the group will be in the home of Mrs. Josh Wilson, 2064 South Van Ness street, October 20 at 7:30 p. m.

HOSTESS CLUB ENJOYS EVENING

Miss Marilyn Read was hostess to the Laurelette Hostess club this week, with sewing and conversation occupying a pleasant evening.

Before the serving of refreshments, an interesting discussion of the new book, "Designing Women," was held. At a business session plans for a Halloween party Oct. 31 were made, and it was decided to change the group's meetings to the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Because many members are enjoying vacations, only a half dozen were present, including Mrs. Blair E. Little, Mrs. Joh Schreff, Miss Thelma Hicks, Miss Violet Bolton (the new treasurer), and Miss Fae Morris (the new vice president).

DINNER PRECEDES TRIP TO PHOENIX

Mrs. Ethel Burns of Laguna Beach invited her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Savage of Fullerton, and her sister, Mrs. Mildred Sutton of Santa Ana, to spend the night Wednesday. She took them all to Bird's cafe for dinner, celebrating in an informal way the third wedding anniversary of the Savages.

On Thursday morning Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Savage left for Phoenix, Ariz., to spend the week-end with Curtis Burns, who is attending State Teachers' college there.

REGULAR SESSION RESUMES MEET

First Christian church Missionary society met in church social parlors Wednesday for a regular business session. Luncheon was served at the noon hour, after which there was a short Bible lecture by the Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of the church.

Mrs. C. F. Skirvin led the song service which preceded the business meeting, when Mrs. C. E. Price presided. Reporting a most successful quarter, Mrs. W. B. Williams read the treasurer's report.

Mrs. W. S. Buchanan, chairman of the program committee, introduced Mrs. P. D. Knight who gave an address in which she outlined the migratory trends of the rural populations to the cities during the last several years. A tribute was paid to the service clubs and church organizations of the city for the fine work they have done with these moving populations recently, and among the city's needy. Later, Mrs. Kenneth Loughton, leader in child study groups, outlined that organization's work.

FIVE FORM HOSTESS GROUP

Mrs. James Richards, Mrs. M. E. Brown, Mrs. William Rohrbacher, Mrs. T. E. Moore and Mrs. Rolla R. Hayes formed a hostess quintet when they entertained women of the First Baptist church Wednesday at their all-day meeting at the church. The noon-day tables had been made attractive with the fall blooms and ferns.

During devotional services, Mrs. Charles G. Price sang several numbers, with Miss Gracia Tredrick conducting this period. Mrs. Lulu Shepherd, civic chairman for the Federation of Church Women of Southern California was speaker of the afternoon. Following her address, a short business session was conducted by Mrs. Russell Crouse, president, closing the meeting.

SECTION LUNCH

Fifth Household Economics section will meet Tuesday, Oct. 11, at 12 noon at the Ebell clubhouse. Hostesses will be Mrs. Carl Klatt, Mrs. Cood Adams, Mrs. D. E. Liggett and Mrs. Lynn Ostrander.

For going places after five a New York designer makes this colorful little velvet cardigan—fourth cousin to the evening sweater. It may top a slender skirt or a dinner dress. Elasticized threads shir it, fuchsia colors it and velvet ribbons make a chapeau which shades from the same hue to plum.

AUXILIARY TO D. A. V. HAS MEETING

Plans for a rummage sale were tentatively discussed at a meeting of the auxiliary to Disabled American Veterans this week, with Mrs. James Wylie presiding, and Mrs. Harry Edwards and Mrs. Charles Spurrier were named in charge of it.

At the same time it was announced that both the auxiliary and the post had been extended an invitation to attend the installation of a new chapter at Florence Oct. 12. The afternoon of the twelfth will be the sewing circle's regular pot-luck and meeting at the home of Mrs. Wylie, 1218 South Parton street.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, auxiliary members joined the post in the chapter hall, and enjoyed an interesting talk on anti-Semitism, delivered by Sam Hurwitz, local merchant.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Morgan and Mrs. Alice Gransgaard to end the evening.

FRATERNITY ANNOUNCES PLANS

Planning a busy fall and winter schedule, members of the local chapter of Alpha Sigma Lambda, national non-scholastic fraternity, met in the chapter rooms Wednesday evening to discuss the interfraternity-sorority council dance which will be tomorrow night at the Casino, San Clemente. Les Parker's orchestra playing for the affair.

November 13 the fraternity is sponsoring a tea at the Vista Del Arroyo hotel in Pasadena, between the hours of 3 and 5:30 p. m. Members of the golf team are to play against Long Beach soon. It was also announced that Don Parks was selected to hold the office of grand master of this province for the coming year, chosen for this office at the national convention held recently in Chicago, where Santa Ana was represented by Charles Ryan.

YOUNG MAN IS CELEBRANT

Inviting several of his friends to share in a birthday celebration, Wendell Cole received them last night in the Cole home at 1519 West Washington for his 11th anniversary.

Preceding an evening of games, the celebrant's cousin Harold Witt, showed moving pictures which he had taken. Later refreshments were served, and gifts presented to Wendell.

Present for the affair were his sister, Jo Ann and brother, Terry Cole, Charles Siegel, Douglas Carmichael, Terry Ragan, Kenneth Anderson, Jimmy Davy, Eldon Winterbourne, Tommy Andrews, Allan Crawford, and Mrs. O. S. Witt, Mrs. Paul Ragan, Mrs. Potter C. Edmonds, and Mrs. Jesse A. Cole, the latter two his grandmothers, and who assisted Mrs. Clifford Cole in serving.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS HAVE DINNER PARTY

More than 100 Royal Arch Masons and their families turned out for last night's chicken dinner at the Masonic temple, over which H. G. Lycan, high priest, presided.

Mrs. J. W. Jones was chairman of the affair, and was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Alex Rez, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Finn, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Lonon, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wasserman, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lykan, and Mrs. Alice Tolhurst.

Autumn leaves and pompon dahlias made effective table decorations for the dinner, during which Helen Holmes of Orange presented several accordion numbers.

Following dinner, ladies enjoyed a bridge session while the lodge convened. Prizes at auction went to Mrs. W. D. Finn and Mrs. J. E. Gowen, and at contract to Mrs. O. S. Walsh and Mrs. Earl McBey.

A similar affair Nov. 3 will be presided over by Mrs. Maylon Jacobs.

NEW MEMBER ATTENDS CLUB MEETING

Mrs. Max Struck was hostess to the Southwest Needlework club yesterday afternoon in her home at 1208 South Parton street, serving a late refreshment course after the informal session of sewing and chat.

A new member, Mrs. B. O. Allen, was introduced, and was lucky enough to win the door prize. At the same time, the club regretted learning that Mrs. George Pringle plans to leave soon for Riverside to make her home.

Absent members were Mrs. James Newman, Mrs. Walter Tomlinson and Mrs. Carl Raymond.

Present were the Mesdames J. W. Branson, Harvey Bear, Guy Stickel, A. J. Beckman, George Bradley, Stella W. Cheney, W. R. Crowthers, Howard McIlvain, L. A. Pease, Ella Tweedy, George Pringle, J. C. Wylie, H. L. Weaver, B. O. Allen and Max Struck.

BRIDGE CLUB CONVENES AGAIN

Members of the Arbor Vitae club met at the Doris-Kathryn for a delightful luncheon yesterday. Mrs. J. C. Smith arranged a lovely table with yellow flowers and matching nuptials.

Prizes for the bridge games of the day were awarded to Mrs. A. F. Lane for high score, and to Mrs. G. N. Coon for low.

Three members were absent, although it was the club's first session since summer vacation, and hence but two tables were in play. Those present were Mrs. Charles Hawthorne, Mrs. Flora McIntosh, Mrs. G. N. Coon, Mrs. A. F. Lane, Mrs. E. J. Grothier, Mrs. Ray Walter, Mrs. Mary Herter, Mrs. Elmie Swan and Mrs. John C. Smith.

WOMANLY HABITS OF PRESENT ERA ARE LOSING MEN'S LOVE AND RESPECT

In these columns recently a young man (we judge from his free and easy, breezy style of writing that he is under 35) chose to deliver a sermon on the death of romance.

He used some pretty strong language in placing the cause of death squarely upon the shoulders of us women—apeing men's manners, dressing in an outlandish manner and going out to attract just anyone—everyone—were some of the reasons he gave for his sex "dodging romance." Today we have a letter from an older man:

Dear Miss Stoddard: We need more frank, open, above-board statements in print such as the letter "Achilles" wrote in your column recently.

I am, I judge, much older than "Achilles" and I can say from many years of observation that he has spoken the truth about the death of romance.

I've been a reader of your columns these many years and I think it fine of you to give time and space to people who otherwise could not speak of the problems at home and in our city.

Through your column I have read letters from wives and grandmothers also from girls who claim they would be more than willing to give up their jobs and marriage and raise a family.

Girls, when grandma was a girl she wore clothes that protected her nude body from the gaze of the public, whether she was crossing a street, entering a stage coach or dancing a quadrille. She was not seen in the saloon, perched on a stool with a cigaret in one hand and a drink in the other, conversing with the man next to her who nine times out of ten is a stranger. No. She had respect for herself and in turn, men respected her. He respected her and protected her even though he had to fight or even kill.

Men looked upon women as the ideal here on this earth, mothers of this great nation. Man, wife worked together, side by side. They were happy even in the fact of great hardships and sorrows. They knew that their children would be strong, God-fearing citizens and fine sweet mothers. They were not afraid to raise their children.

Yes, men are losing respect, as

TOROSAS PLAN SEVERAL EVENTS

A delicious potluck luncheon was enjoyed yesterday afternoon by members of Torosa Rebekah sewing circle, meeting at the home of Mrs. Emma Cochems with Mrs. Hattie Cozad as co-hostess.

Plans were made for the group's monthly public card party, a one o'clock luncheon to be held next Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Anna Scott, 915 Flower street. Mrs. Bertie Launsback and Mrs. Martha Van De Walker will be co-hostesses.

The circle will hold its regular meeting Nov. 3 at the home of Mrs. Isobel Tucker, 317 West Eighth street, with Mrs. Cochems and Mrs. Van De Walker assisting, and that time arrangements for a November bazar will be completed.

Present yesterday were the Mesdames Gertrude Butler, Clara Hilyard, Martha McKee, Alice Tolhurst, Helen Hilyard, Mary Cooper, Estella Grey, Bertie Launsback, Kate Perkins, Isobel Tucker, Anna Scott, Jean Tremble, Leone Talbot, Nannie Myers, Maude Lentz, and Martha Van De Walker.

"Achilles" said, not only for sweethearts, but wives, mothers and grandmothers because of the unwomanly habits they have adopted. If you could listen to the sad stories from the lips of young girls who are placed in homes for girls, by the hundreds, as I do, you would raise up in arms and stamp out these evils forever from our midst!

Then and then only will the prostrate form of sleeping romance rise again and heed the beckoning hand of womanhood. Sincerely,

FROM A MAN WHO KNOWS.

The population of the United States has increased 30-fold in four generations.

G. W. BASSETT WILL RESUME SONG SERIES

G. Willard Bassett, popular Santa Ana tenor, will resume his weekly "Songs at Eventide" series Sunday night on KVOE.

Opening his second season on the local station, Bassett will sing request programs of sacred, secular and classical music, with special emphasis on old hymns.

The program may be carried as a network feature for other Don Lee Broadcasting system stations. It originates in the Brown and Wagner Colonial mortuary, with Miss Ruth Armstrong accompanying the soloist on the pipe organ.

Time for the broadcast will be 9:15 p. m. each Sunday—15 minutes later than last winter's series.

Bassett has been featured soloist at Temple Baptist church Los Angeles, for the past year, and resigned to fill the local contract. His resignation was not accepted, however, and he will continue there except for Sunday evenings, when he will sing on the local station.

Marian Martin Pattern

"AT HOME" TO
STYLE AND CHARM
PATTERN 9868

If your heart is young, and your eyes sparkle at sight of gay, new fashions, you'll want to order this easily-made Marian Martin pattern. Too smart to wear just around the house, Style No. 9868 will go into many a college girl's and business woman's wardrobe! For one dress, use the round-neck design, so lovely with clips or other accessories. For another, have a braid-trimmed petal neckline. Notice the debonaire yoke, and remember that yokes are newly fashionable! You'll like button accents—or perhaps braid and bows. The self belt may go all around or from the sides. Three sleeve lengths.

Pattern 9868 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 1/4 yards 38 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents in coins for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and style number. Write for your copy of the new Marian Martin book of patterns! See the latest fall fashions, fabrics, accessories! All the new clothes you need for the season are pictured. Lovely frocks for daytime and parties! Chic for college and business girls! Sturdy things for children! Snow-time sportswear! Styles for the "would-be-slender" woman! Smart lingerie—and dresses for around the house. Helpful gift ideas too! Easy patterns that invite "beginners!" Send your order today! Book fifteen cents. Pattern fifteen cents. Send your order to The Santa Ana Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East Fifth St., Santa Ana, California.

WED IN RENO

A marriage license was issued in Reno yesterday to Robert E. Cooper, 23, Glendale, and Iva Trimlett, 19, Santa Ana, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Police News

A. R. Hillyard of Orange received a traffic citation yesterday after his automobile reportedly struck the rear fender of a Santa Ana police car at Fourth and Main streets. The fender was bent, police said. Hillyard was ticketed for driving without an operator's license.

Three Santa Ana boys, whose fathers found them with stolen automobile parts, will make periodic visits to the office of Assistant Police Chief Harry Fink during the next several weeks. They were brought to the station by their fathers.

No damage was reported yesterday from a small fire at 305 South Daisy street, police reported.

Game preserves are not modern; they were established by the early Norman kings of England.

CROSBY FILM COMING HERE

Bing Crosby's latest picture, "Sing You Sinners," which will have its first local showing tomorrow at the Broadway theater, is a comedy built around a mad-cap California family, composed of Bing, his mother, two brothers and the fiancée of one of the brothers.

The story traces the fortunes of the family, from its small town days, when the irresponsibility of one of the sons, played by Bing, threatens to bring disaster to all concerned, to its final triumph in Los Angeles, which is accomplished with the help of well-picked race-horses and a singing trio. Ellen Drew and Elizabeth Patterson have leading roles, as have Fred MacMurray and Donald O'Connor.

Crime and punishment, innocence and vindication, are the twin themes of "Girls on Probation," melodrama with Jane Bryan and Ronald Reagan in the leading roles, which will be the second attraction.

RITZ COMEDY OPENS TODAY

The three mad Ritz Brothers court through the comedy, "Straight, Place and Show" which comes to the screen of the West Coast theater today.

While the mad brethren dominate the new picture with their wild antics, there is, however, a more serious side, presided over by Richard Arlen and Phyllis Brooks, who furnish the love interest, and by Ethel Merman, who supplies the melody. Miss Merman presents several new hit songs.

On the same program is "Time Out for Murder" one of the new Roving Reporter series featuring a cast headed by Gloria Stuart, Michael Whalen, Douglas Fowley, Robert Kellard, Chick Chandler and Jane Darwell.

The melodrama of the story is generously sprinkled with comedy which at times leans toward the screwball, yet it is so shrewdly injected that it serves to maintain exciting plot motivation, according to advance notices.

Will Help You
With Your Clothes
Problem.
Write Her!

Dear Dorothea—Lace is a whimsical fabric that fashion blows about like thistledown according to her moods. No wonder women are always asking when and how it should be worn. This fall lace is tremendously important for formal costumes, and it looks as if this will go all through winter. The Victorian influence did it.

But when it comes to afternoon, lace is only fashionable as a trim to a silk, or even a wool dress. So if you were to make up this lovely black lace, therefore, into an afternoon dress it would fall flat. On the other hand, if you merely extend the skirt to ankle length and otherwise make the lace into the same sort of frock, afternoon neckline and sleeves, you will have a highly sophisticated theater or restaurant or dinner frock. So do that!

Real maroon is apt to look a little "dead" with black for it does not contrast enough. Better wear it with green—or blue—or more matching maroon, using other colors for accent and contrast.

Just roughly, I would suggest a suit if your figure wears suits. It will be a new one of an English, casual sort with blue and grey plaid jacket and monotone skirt. This will tie in perfectly with the grey topcoat and the blue wool frock—accessories and all.

Then for dress-up you must have either a new, dressy coat for your frocks, or an ensemble. Do you need afternoon clothes? If so, would you like an ensemble or coat with dress? And how about evening clothes?

MARY HAMPTON.

"THE SWEETEST OF ALL SOUNDS IS PRAISE"

"Do you know that you have lovely hands?"

AND THOSE HANDS ARE SKILLED IN MAKING COFFEE

It's a wise woman who teaches her hands to make delicious coffee. Even more important is the practice of using only Hills Bros. Coffee. For this famous coffee has a flavor that never varies—that invites praise at the first taste—"Now, that's what I call good coffee!" For 60 years millions of women have been complimented—over and over again—because they served Hills Bros. Coffee.

ARE YOU FED UP ON LABOR WARFARE? (SO IS EVERYBODY!)

IS THERE A REMEDY? YES!

PROPOSITION #1 LABOR INITIATIVE

A State Law to End Wasteful Labor Warfare

PROPOSITION #1 WILL BRING PEACE AND ORDER INTO EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS, AND BETTER TIMES FOR ALL

Note the Fairness and Justice of this Act:

WORKERS CAN ORGANIZE —

(and bargain collectively without interference).

WORKERS CAN STRIKE —

(but no sit-downs, nor seizures of property).

WORKERS ON STRIKE CAN PICKET —

(but with reasonable regulations and only peaceful methods).

WORKERS ON STRIKE CAN BOYCOTT —

(but only their own employer).

BUT NOBODY CAN — interfere with free use of the highways and wharves by farmers or anyone else.

NOBODY CAN carry on MASS picketing.

NOBODY CAN use coercion or intimidation to force free citizens to join unions, or not join them, or other un-American practices.

NOBODY CAN use the excuse of "hot cargo" for boycotting or picketing because a union official declares a commodity "unfair."

NOBODY CAN boycott those with whom they have no quarrel. In brief — no secondary boycotts.

Mail a postcard or letter right now to enroll as a volunteer member of the California Committee for Peace in Employment Relations—at no cost to you, and no obligation except to—

WORK, TALK AND VOTE "YES" ON PROPOSITION #1

ANNOUNCER OF GRID CONTESTS GIVES ADVICE

Don't squawk if your football pants aren't on the 50-yard line—it's better to watch a game from the goal line or even behind the goalposts.

That cheering bit of information for harassed football fans was brought to Lions club members yesterday by Frank Bull, sportscaster for the Associated Oil company.

Bull said his broadcasting booth at the Los Angeles coliseum is on the 10-yard line, and he added he'd rather have it there than anywhere else in the stadium.

It takes from 11 to 15 persons, Bull said, to produce a football game broadcast—including the announcer, "spotter," commentators, technicians and others. His firm, he said, is spending $400,000 this season on football broadcasts, its 13th season. He has been at it 12 years.

"This year," he said, "we're having a little harder time trying to give some of the blockers and linemen a buildup. Coaches tell me it's getting hard to get players to take line positions—no body wants to play tackle or guard and never get his name in the newspapers."

He described how games not broadcast direct are "re-created" in the studio by a telegraph arrangement and sound effects.

"We're not trying to fool anybody," Bull said, "but the sound there to build up a little color and excitement."

A. I. Mellenichin was program chairman. John Ward, junior college line coach, spoke briefly before Bull's address.

Worker Walks Backward to Death

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—Alexander Pavao, 39, was electrocuted on the Joseph Cordaro ranch.

Pavao, who lived here, was walking backward with a spool of fence wire in his hands when his neck came in contact with the charged wire which dangled from a pump house.

L. B. CLAIMS 200,000 LONG BEACH. (AP)—City Clerk Edwin L. MacDonald estimates the population of Long Beach at 200,000.

COTTON SWAP FOR SILVER, SOLON'S PLAN

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Officials of the department of agriculture said today no official cognizance had been taken of a proposal by Senator Pittman (D., Nev.) that the government trade cotton for silver in the foreign markets to dispose of the huge cotton carry-over.

They said Pittman's suggestion was not presented to the department officially. The senator proposed the government trade ten pounds of cotton for one ounce of foreign silver and with the expected 870,000,000 ounces of silver thus acquired pay the farmer 12.9 cents a pound for his cotton by issuance of certificates against the silver.

Pittman said he believed 13,400,000 bales of cotton could be sold on the foreign markets in this manner.

APPEAL FILED IN AUTO CASE

Appeal from a decision of Justice Charles Kuchel of Anaheim awarding a judgment of $259.97 against him was taken today by F. Mizusaka, as papers in an accident damage case were filed in superior court.

Mizusaka was sued early this year by J. E. Trail, who said the defendant was responsible for a collision between two trucks at Brookhurst and Katella roads March 28. When the defendant failed to appear for trial, Judge Kuchel awarded damages of $259.97 to Trail. Later Mizusaka appeared, denied he had been served with a summons, and the case was reopened. After trial, the judgment was the same.

ADAM RICCHETTI EXECUTED FOR K. C. MASSACRE

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Adam Ricchetti, last survivor of a desperate trio which terrorized the midwest a few years ago, was executed in Missouri's lethal gas chamber early today for his part in the 1933 Kansas City Union station massacre of four officers and their prisoner.

Death of the sardonic, saw-toothed pal of Pretty Boy Floyd blasted the last hope of officials for a first hand account of the sensational mass murders.

Ricchetti murmured only seven words as authorities strapped him into the chair: "What have I done to deserve this?"

Ricchetti, Floyd and Verne Miller, a former South Dakota sheriff who turned gangster, were named by federal officials as the actual Union station murderers.

The massacre was a bungled attempt to rescue Frank Nash, an escaped convict, from officers taking him back to Leavenworth, Kas., federal prison.

Killed in the battle of machine gun, shotgun and pistol fire in the edge of Kansas City's downtown business district were Federal Agent R. J. Caffrey; Police Chief Otto Reid of McAlister, Okla.; two Kansas City policemen, William J. Grooms and Frank E. Hermanson—and Nash.

An Old Ghost Walks

Ohio, birthplace of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and Anti-Saloon League, joined most of the rest of the nation five years ago in burying prohibition.

But now, in that state, the supposed corpse is displaying signs of renewed life. Since 1933, nearly 900 of the 1340 townships have elected to put themselves under some form of local prohibition. Petitions already on file insure that in 32 of Ohio's 88 counties one or more voting districts will hold elections next month on some phase of the beer or liquor question. Dry forces predict that, as a result of the November voting, 1000 townships will be under their complete or partial control and that their state will soon be ready to lead another national march to outlaw the liquor traffic.

Why this new trend toward a dry Ohio? The Columbus Citizen gives the following reasons:

"Lax enforcement of liquor laws by the state liquor control department. Disregard by state officials of liquor permits. Traffic fatalities and accidents caused by drunken drivers. Violation of closing hours by night clubs and roadhouses in residential districts. Licensing of beer parlors in the neighborhood of schools and churches. Operation of slot machines and gambling devices in drinking places."

In other words, politics plus the greed and shortsightedness of the sellers of hard liquor and beer must bear most of the blame for outraging public opinion and creating renewed sentiment for prohibition. Ohio is by no means the only state where this is true. Unless many states are to go dry again, the liquor industry itself must put on the brakes and stop inviting its own destruction.

It may be unkind to call Mr. Hitler's attention to it, but according to the U. S. census of 1930, Uncle Sam had 1,608,814 foreign-born Germans in his midst.

What's New?

A liner from Europe docked at a large Atlantic port the other day and was immediately boarded by American reporters. Anxious for comments on the current European scene, the reporters button-holed all the passengers they could stop.

The passengers for the most part were Americans who had spent considerable periods in a variety of countries. They couldn't tell the reporters much about Europe. As a matter of fact, the reporters had their difficulties getting their questions in edgewise; the passengers all had questions of their own they wanted answered. They wanted to know what was happening in Europe.

They had all been looking forward for a long time to reading American newspapers again, so that they might acquaint themselves with the current events in the countries they had been living in. They couldn't find out from newspapers over there.

You couldn't find an editor who would say that American papers are faultless. But American papers print the news. That makes them a rarity in these times.

The privilege of access to all the news is never more valuable at one time than another, but when that privilege becomes rare, the necessity of safeguarding it suddenly appears more pressing. A completely free press is not only a thing valuable in itself, but one of the fundamental guarantees of a way of life that makes such benefits as a free press possible.

Amid the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, it is well to remember that even after you've peeled an apple and eaten everything but the core, the seeds are still left.

'A Tisket . . .'

Maybe the psychologists could tell us why the "popular" song that has been by all odds the most popular through the late summer of 1938 has been that inanity, lifted from an old nursery rhyme, about the lady who had a brown and yellow basket.

A catchy tune? Yes, but that hardly explains the fact that for week after week the tisket-tasket situation has dominated the ether to such an extent that, turn the radio dials as we might, it was—and is—impossible to escape it. Or that "Stop beating around the mulberry bush" should now be coming in to similar popularity, apparently signaling a cycle of childhood jingles in swing.

Perhaps the troubled times are responsible. Problems that seem beyond our understanding beset us on every side. The business of being grown up has become almost too much for us. Is it that, driven by subconscious longing for security of the nursery, we listen eagerly to the echo of words familiar in happier, simpler days?

A geologist reports he has discovered a volcano two miles under water in the Pacific. Wish we could put a few human volcanoes that far under.

Senate Takes a Hand

Even the most ardent advocates of the $30-a-week Thursday pension scheme should welcome an investigation of it by the United States senate. If the plan and its management cannot stand up under an impartial examination now is the time to find that out.

Fair Enough

NEW YORK—There have been complaints of my ability to think things through. These complaints have been placed on file and will receive attention in their regular order, but as a preliminary report on the problem I will say that the difficulty has been stated incorrectly. The fact that I do not think things through is no proof that I am unable to do so, and those who leap to this conclusion are themselves guilty of slapdash thinking. I can think things through, but I don't like to because I always arrive at conclusions very disagreeable to me and find myself in the company of persons and beliefs with whom I would not be found dead.

Some Difference
For example, I see no difference between a Canadian youth of 18 and an American of the same age and insist that it is no more the duty of the Canadian boy to go to Europe and fight for Czechoslovakia than of the American. I hold that the American has no such duty at all and therefore that it would be wrong to hold Britain to a political pledge involving the risk of this Canadian boy's life.

Yet the German seizure of parts of Czechoslovakia and the infliction of brutal German rule on the minority population of that territory is horrible to contemplate, and I cannot resist the temptation to propose that when Mr. Chamberlain elevated to the peerage by way of reward for postponing the killing of the Canadian boy he select for his title plain Lord Jim.

Now there is a hairpin turn in this thought, but I planned it that way because I certainly can't commit the Canadian army to Czechoslovak boys to such a fight, but still have to maintain my objections to the procedure in the Sudeten country and in Munich.

I could have started with the Canadian boy, thought him right through to a grave somewhere in Europe, but that is a terrible price to pay for one man's satisfaction in having thought straight. I prefer to start another thought about the folly of unpreparedness for war, especially in the presence of menacing preparations by a nation which is an enemy in all but the formal, declared sense.

Our Enemy, Too
Nazi Germany is the enemy of Great Britain and France and of this country, too, because Canada is a part of the British empire, and we stand committed not only by sentiment but by consideration for our own peace and safety to prevent any European enemy of Canada—and this goes for the Japanese, too—from obtaining a foothold in the Monroe Doctrine. We have had an affirmation of it recently in a speech by President Roosevelt, and we seem agreed on it.

So now we come to the point of planning what to do and have no option but to agree with Mr. Chamberlain's declaration in parliament Tuesday that Great Britain was caught virtually unarmed and therefore made a pious virtue of the surrender at Munich. Mr. Chamberlain, having learned a terrible lesson, would now go into training to make the fight for their lives as soon as they feel that they are sufficiently muscled up.

The British sat down to a dish of crow and exclaimed, "what lovely pheasant!" and everybody who thinks Britain should have moved in and stopped the Germans, but without sacrifice of young lives, has been gnawing a piece of wing or neck, too. I don't count the Nazi soldiers as human beings or youth or anything like that, because they and the Russians are what I would call faceless people—just human forms without features under their helmets, without human feelings, ideals or instincts.

So now I think the British and French should build terribly big air forces, big enough to outspeed the best the Germans and Italians can make and at the rate of about two to one, and then let us see what happens. I know the Canadian boy stands a chance of being killed in the process, but that's the trouble with thinking things through.

HONEST LAUGHTER
"Give me an honest laughter," Sir Walter Scott would say, and then proceed to fill his own order with laughter that was both hearty and kind. Always he laughed with people—never at them—and thereby quickly dispelled the reserve and awe which his great name was calculated to inspire.

"He'll come here sometimes, wif' great folks in his company," the keeper of the ruins of Melrose Abbey once related to Washington Irving, "and the first thing I'll know of it is hearing his voice calling out, 'Johnny! Johnny Bower!' And when I go out I am sure to be greeted wif' a joke or a pleas'ant word. He'll stand and c'rawl and laugh wif' me just like an aul' wife. And to think that of a man that has such an awfu' knowledge o' history!"

THE HEIGHT OF SOMETHING
"Or perhaps it was a low peak," writes a contributor in sending the following eight-column streamer head which appeared in Marlboro (Mass.) newspaper.

Science News

By ROBERT D. POTTER
(Copyright, 1938, by Science Service)
WASHINGTON—The Federal Communications commission here is tackling the knotty problem of fixing distance limits over which the new radio remote control devices can operate.

You can now buy tiny radio transmitters which will play phonograph records in your home and broadcast their program to your own large radio set. You can also push a button and tune your set to a radio waveland energy sipping across the room. And there are systems for analyzing radio listener response in which the individual listeners push a button and record by radio—a block or two away—where they are listening to specific programs.

All these devices require small radio oscillators and transmitters which send out radio waves and hence they might, under existing radio rules, require a licensed radio operator to make them work. The task of licensing the laymen users of these devices is, of course, an impossibility and so if they are to continue to serve a useful purpose some solution must be achieved.

While the simple operation of many of these devices makes a requirement for a licensed radio operator seem ridiculous, the FCC remains that, in the last few years there have been an increasing number of charges of interference with already licensed reception. The FCC's task is to fix, somehow, the limits—in distance—over which such devices shall act.

In informal hearings in Washington the manufacturers of these devices have shown fairly general acceptance of the commission's proposal that interference shall be construed not to exist if the tiny amount of field energy of 15 milliwatts per meter is not exceeded at a distance of lambda over two pi, where lambda is the wavelength of radio wave emitted and pi has its usual numerical equivalent of 3.14.

In actual practice lambda over two pi would be a distance of 157 feet for a radio wave having a frequency of 1,000 kilocycles; 78.5 feet for 2,000 kilocycles and in the ultra-high frequency bands a distance of only five feet at a frequency of 30,000 kilocycles.

At the hearing here the only adverse opinion against this regulation came from those concerned making remote control devices operating on the high frequencies. Most of them wish to control mechanisms some 20 feet away and restriction limiting action to distances of five feet would bring sizable problems.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The president did some straight from the shoulder talking during his last conference with the wage-embattled railroad heads and brotherhood chiefs.

Neither camp has said anything publicly about the surprise packages but they are still gasping. Principal surprise was the information that he is seriously considering legislation, this winter, to supplant the 50-year-old interstate commerce commission with a department of transportation.

This would be empowered with broad authority for drastic rehabilitation of the railroads and regulation of all forms of interstate transportation. Roosevelt made no bones about his disgust with the ICC and his failure to solve the long-standing railroad problem. He said the agency had become so ensnared in its own red tape as to be useless. The only remedy seemed to be creation of a complete new body.

While his callers were still blinking over this, the president jolted them again with equally bold observations about the proposed 15 percent wage cut. He said it was economically unsound, indefensible and would solve nothing. If the slash went through it was sure to be followed by a general axiom of wage levels which could mean only one thing—widespread financial unrest and business setbacks.

"Cutting wages isn't the remedy for your troubles," the president shot at the railroad executives. "That is like trying to put a patch on an inner tube that is all shot to pieces. What you have got to do is to put your financial houses in order. That's the answer to your difficulties, not this unwarranted wage cut."

The president warned that he is still emphatically opposed to government ownership, but it might become necessary if the carriers persist in their disastrous financial practices.

To illustrate his point he cited an experience in his own family. "My grandfather," he said, "bought five bonds of a railroad company in New York 75 years ago. Those bonds have never been retired. My mother still has them."

The carriers, the president insisted, have to get rid of "railroad bankers and railroad lawyers" if there is to be permanent rehabilitation.

"They are the ones who are the cause of all your ills," he asserted. "They have been milking the roads dry for decades. All they are interested in is draining off the profits. A sound and economically operated transportation system supplying the nation with good service and paying workers just wages is no concern of theirs."

The rail officials, plainly nonplussed by the president's tart lecture, listened in silence. Finally, he turned squarely on them and asked: "Well, gentlemen, where do you stand? Are you willing to abandon your wage cut and get together with the government and labor on a legislative program to cure the ills of your industry?"

The three rail heads—Carl Gray, former president of the Union Pacific, M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania, and Ernest E. Norris, president of the Southern—retired to the cabinet room to talk it over, then returned to ask for more time to discuss the matter with other executives before giving an answer. Roosevelt replied he would await their decision.

London vs. Hamilton
Behind the scenes, the rift between the titular head of the republican party and the chairman of the republican national committee is growing wider. Alf Landon never did agree with John Hamilton on fundamentals, and the disagreement has become sharper in recent months.

Landon has deep misgivings about the tactics of the right-wingers in the party, with which Hamilton is associated. He distrusts their reactionary views, and believes their negative policy, consisting chiefly of attacks on the president, is politically unsound.

Furthermore, he suspects Hamilton of cultivating Herbert Hoover and encouraging the ex-president to come back into the national arena. Landon is convinced that the more Hoover is brought out in the open, the less chance republicans have of recouping power.

"Tom Do-He"
Remarkable an ex-republican senator, on being informed that Jim Farley had induced Gov. Herbert Lehman to run for re-election in New York:

"That changes the race from a cinch for Dewey to 'do-he' or 'don't he'?"

New Type Milk Bottle
Said More Sanitary
CHICAGO.—(By Science Service.)—A new and more sanitary type of milk bottle pouring lip has been developed, it is announced at the University of Illinois College of Medicine here by Dr. Lloyd Arnold.

Ordinary shaped milk bottles spread the milk over nearly two inches of the mouth of the bottle. The new design restricts this spread to about a half inch.

"The weakest link in the sanitary handling of milk is the capping of the bottle," Dr. Arnold explained. "The price is greater than the disc or plug cap is used. On the other hand, the hood cap protects the milk better than a disc cap." Dr. Arnold explained.

"After testing 15 different designs we obtained a satisfactory bottle which has a pouring lip extending seven-sixteenths inch from the top of the bottle, and which does not drip and pour clean. The average bottle now in use has a pouring lip extending for 1 1/2 to 2 inches from the top," he reports.

HOST IMPORTANT
During the administration of the late President Warren G. Harding, Senator William E. Borah, one of the so-called "insurgents" of the republican party, was sought as an administration leader. The president's advisors hoped, in this manner, to keep Borah more or less in "line" with the party. The senator listened with interest until the president had finished speaking, then said:

"The President, you can get along without me, but I cannot get along without my political views. Thanks just the same."—Wall Street Journal.

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent, fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

DETOUR THE TRAFFIC

To the Editor: I have been a resident of Santa Ana for several months now making my home in the northern part of town. Often it is necessary for me to traverse Main street on my way downtown. I have found traffic conditions on that street most inconvenient.

The congestion is not created by those residents of Santa Ana who are driving downtown to do their daily shopping or returning to their offices after lunch but by the motorist who is en route to points beyond our city.

Many times have I been caught in a snarl of traffic at the corners of Fourth and Main streets going forward inch by inch while the traffic lights changed several times. The situation makes coming downtown most unpleasant and surely does harm to our local business firms.

I have heard conversation concerning construction of a highway around Santa Ana for those who are not interested in stopping here and I believe a plea to the state highway officials along such lines might be of some help in local traffic and parking problems.

MRS. CARRIE BAIN.

Some Traffic

By CHIEF E. RAYMOND CATO
California Highway Patrol

Q—There is a public garage in our neighborhood in which are kept cars owned by some friends of mine. Many times, when they are out of the city I notice that mechanics and others use the cars and certainly seem to care much whether they drive recklessly or fast. Can't such a practice be stopped?—Mrs. E. O'B.

A—Such an offense is a very serious one and carries with it a heavy penalty of a fine not exceeding $1,000 or not more than one year in jail or both. Sec. 443 of the Vehicle Code states: Every person having the storage, care, safe keeping, custody or possession of any vehicle of a type subject to registration, who, without consent of the owner, takes, hires, runs, drives or uses such vehicle, or removes therefrom any part thereof is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Q—Someone told me that a person riding an animal or using a bicycle on the public highway is subject to the vehicle code provisions of our state. Is such a thing true?

A—Yes; they are subject to such provisions of the law as would apply to the driver of a vehicle. Naturally certain provisions could not be enforced, such as registering a horse, etc.

Q—If a person requests and is given a ride in my car and I have an accident, in which they are injured, am I responsible for any damages or claims they make as a result?—Miss T. R. E.

A—If they are your "guests" and the accident is not caused by your recklessness, willful misconduct or intoxication, the law declares you to be not liable.

Q—Recently I lost both of the number plates on my automobile bearing a number I have had for a number of years. Now the department advises me that I will have to accept a different numbered set of plates. Why can't I have duplicate plates made?—J. L. W.

A—The department no longer issues duplicate pairs of plates for passenger cars, for a number of very excellent reasons. When plates are lost or stolen, now, it is necessary to bring in all certificates the remaining plate etc., and receive a new set of different number. Often motorists reported plates lost or stolen and when they recovered them failed to notify us. Thus they were being stamped as frequently by alert officers. The law prohibits you making license plates for such use as you indicate.

Q—What is the top speed limit in California for a trailer coach?—R. T.

A—You probably meant to ask what the limit was for a vehicle and trailer coach attached. At no time shall the limit be more than 45 miles per hour. There are, however, other limitations, but the greatest speed is as stated.

Q—Who receives the fines collected by the state for traffic infractions? Do not these go to the California Highway patrol?—R. O. S.

A—All such fines are paid into the fund for street and road improvement in the cities or counties, as the case may be, where the offense was committed. The California Highway patrol does not receive one cent of these fines indirectly or otherwise.

He has always done right. God always blesses him and our people. —German Air Minister Goering, on Hitler.

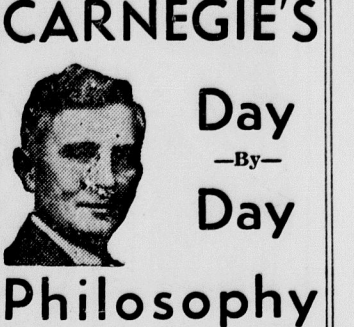

I'LL TELL YOU . . .

BY BOB BURNS

Anybody who understands human nature at all knows that the kids are harder to fool than the grown folks. The smoothest street faker will turn pale when he sees a couple of sharp-eyed kids in his audience.

When my uncle was teachin' school down home, the superintendent came to him one day and said, "I want to put a 'motto' on your desk that will inspire the pupils." My uncle read the sign and it said, "Knowledge is wealth." He turned to the superintendent and says, "No, I'm gonna learn these children anything, they've got to have confidence in me and they know what a small salary I get!"

DALE CARNEGIE'S

Day—By—Day Philosophy

What is your reaction toward defeat? Do you think "What's the use?" or do you take a deep breath and go at it again?

Robert Ingersoll, American lecturer and philosopher, said, "The greatest test of courage on this earth is to bear defeat without losing heart."

How right he was!

Here is the story of a man who succeeded because he refused to be defeated.

As a writer of fiction, Arthur Somers Roche had been getting $100 a week. Suddenly he was told that no more of his stories were desired.

He received this notification in Florida. Always a generous soul and free spender, he was down to an empty purse and a return trip ticket to New York.

Three days later he stood before his former editor.

"They've been at me to fire you for six months, Arthur," he was told. "I didn't, because I know you have a big following. Now the chief has fired you himself."

Arthur Roche tried to break into another market. But he'd been shot down on the wing, and every editor in New York thought him a dead duck.

He went up to Castine, Maine, and pounded his battered typewriter day in and day out—often all night long—in turning out thrillers nobody wanted.

"I couldn't even give them away," he said. "And pretty soon I didn't have change to pay postage to keep sending them out."

Obviously it was time for Arthur Roche to begin all over again in some other line of work. But Arthur didn't want any line but writing. He'd change his style, if necessary, but he wouldn't change his life work. He tried other magazines time after time. No success. Surely a man couldn't go as far as he once had gone and be kept down forever! Finally, with the desperate thought that he had nothing to lose through trying, he sent a story to a magazine which in former years might have scorned his work. "The Saturday Evening Post." Little chance, of course, but it was success or starvation.

Then a miracle happened! One of those miracles that frequently break through after a long period of perseverance. The Post bought the story and asked for more.

Arthur rushed to New York to see the publishers who had fired him. He offered to buy back a 60,000-word serial of his that they had thought too poor to publish. They let him have it, but kindly refused to take any money for it—wouldn't worth anything. He rewrote that serial and sold it, likewise, to the Post.

Later Arthur Roche sold all his old stuff, a trunkful, at five times the price he had once gotten; and his former publishers bought all they could get at the higher rate.

Have you been knocked down? You don't have to lie there; you too may get a break from a higher source if you will plow through with determination to win. Remember, you never have anything to lose by trying.
